Longshore Agreement

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The longshore union and dock employers agreed Monday on wage scales ordered by the federal Pay Board, ending the threat of a renewed West Coast dock strike.

The International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union had protested bitterly the Pay Board cuts in the Feb. 10 agreement that ended a crippling 14-day dock strike of 24 ports from San Diego to Seattle.

The straight time of ILWU longshoremen will be increased 42 cents to $4.70 an hour retroactive to Dec. 25, 1971, said a joint statement by the ILWU and the Pacific Maritime Association.

That is the limit fixed by the Pay Board in its March 16 order trimming from 20.9 to 14.9 per cent the first-year increases won by the union. The Feb. 10 contract called for a 72-cent boost to $5 an hour.

The agreement was signed after a record-long U.S. mainland waterfront shutdown which the White House estimated cost more than $600 million in lost American exports, mainly in grain shipments to Asia.

The joint ILWU-PMA statement, making no mention of the Pay Board, said the new agreement "reflects the cuts in the negotiated settlement."

"If wage or price controls are eliminated on or before Nov. 30, 1972, the contract may be terminated on 60 days notice by either party," the statement said.

"Should wage or price controls end on or after Jan. 31, 1973, the contract may be terminated on 24 hours notice by either party," it said.

The new pay scales will start with the June 3 payroll. Retroactive payments to Dec. 25, 1971, will be made by PMA employers not later than June 30.

Another 40 cent increase to $5.10 an hour will become effective July 1, 1972, and run to the contract's expiration July 1, 1973. The Pay Board did not act on that increase.

All fringe benefits, including a guarantee of 36 hours weekly work or pay for registered dock workers and clerks, stand as negotiated.

Fire Base Recaptured

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese infantrymen using bold helicopter assault tactics recaptured an important fire base southwest of Hue on Monday in the second phase of an effort to pre-empt North Vietnamese plans to attack the former imperial capital.

The surprise reconquest of Fire Base Bastogne, which had been abandoned under enemy attack 18 days ago, came as renewed fighting was reported in the central highlands. Communist command troops also cut two key highways by destroying culverts.

The 64-week siege of An Loc continued as enemy forces hurled another 2,500 rounds of artillery, rocket and mortar fire into the ravaged provincial capital 60 miles north of Saigon.

The U.S. Command disclosed the loss of three more planes in raids over North Vietnam with all six crewmen listed as missing. This raised to 142 Americans reported killed or missing in Indochina air losses since Hanoi's general offensive began March 30.

At Bastogne, field reports said, a platoon of South Vietnamese helicopter pilots assaulted the base in mid-afternoon. They quickly secured it for ground forces which drove westward along Route 547 behind a shield of U.S. air strikes.

The attackers encountered only light resistance, the reports said, indicating North Vietnamese forces around Bastogne possibly were surprised by the bold attack.

At nightfall the South Vietnamese 1st Division was reported to have full control of the base. But some troops still were reported trying to recapture a nearby mountaintop outpost called Checkmate, which also fell to the enemy on April 28.

Like the Vietnamese marine raid over the weekend into enemy-held territory just north-west of Hue, the Bastogne operation indicated a determination by South Vietnamese commanders to seize the initiative from enemy forces threatening Hue.

Military sources said more such forays can be expected by forces under Lt. Gen. Ngo Quang Truong, who assumed command of the region two weeks ago following the loss of Quang Tri Province.

Senior South Vietnamese field officers and U.S. advisers told Associated Press correspondent Peter Arnett the Bastogne push was part of a drive to enlarge the defense lines around Hue.

Fighting continued around Kontum, the threatened capital of the highlands province of the same name, as a concentrated airlift of 15,000 Montagnard refugees, got under way, Associated Press correspondent David J. Paine reported.

Officials said many mountain tribesmen agreed to stay and help defend Kontum if their families could be flown out.

About 20,000 civilians fled earlier from Kontum to escape expected heavy attacks and 30,000 persons, including some from Kontum, have left Pleiku for other cities farther south.

Fighting flared Monday to the northwest, north and south of Kontum, which allied military sources say is threatened by about 3,000 enemy troops.

Communist-led forces, who have been trying to isolate population centers and military bases by cutting important roads, succeeded in closing Highway 19 east of Pleiku and Highway 1 west of Saigon.

Highway 19, coastal supply route which was cut for 16 days last month by fighting at the An Khe Pass, was closed for the second time Sunday night after enemy sappers blew up two culverts.

Rifle fire greeted repair engineers and armor and militia task force who went to the area near the Mang Yang Pass, 15 miles east of Pleiku.

Saboteurs also destroyed a culvert on Highway 1 near Trang Bang, a district town about 25 miles northwest of Saigon. It cut the main road access to the city of Tay Ninh.

In Saigon, the U.S. Command announced the turnover of the huge $53-million Cam Ranh Bay Air Base on the coast. It also disclosed the impending withdrawal of the 483rd Tactical Airlift Wing, a move that will reduce U.S. troop strength by 2,000 men.

The U.S. Command announced the smallest weekly troops cut since last September, a reduction of 400 men. As of last Thursday, the command said, authorized U.S. troop strength in Vietnam stood at 65,000. It is to be cut to 49,000 by July 1.

Man Makes Attempt On Life Governor Wallace Shot

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, 52, was shot and seriously wounded Monday while shaking hands with supporters after a campaign rally at a suburban shopping center.

A white man was taken into custody shortly after the shooting. The Justice Department later identified him as Arthur Bremer, 21, of Milwaukee, Wis.

Wallace, struck down while making his third try for the presidency, underwent surgery at Holy Cross Hospital in Silver Spring.

Medical concern was centered around possible spinal injuries and paralysis. But a Wallace spokesman at the hospital said: "The report from the operating room is that everything is progressing systematically. All vital signs are strong."

The department filed charges against Bremer, accusing him of assault on a federal officer and violating the 1968 Civil Rights Act by assaulting a candidate for an elective office. The assault on a federal officer charge stems from the wounding of a Secret Service agent, one of three persons shot with Wallace.

George Beall said the Secret Service had recovered a 38-caliber revolver that was purchased by Bremer Jan. 13.

Bremer could get the death penalty if the Secret Service agent dies and he is convicted. The maximum penalty under the Civil Rights Act is life imprisonment.

Wallace received a blood transfusion and went into surgery.

An hour and a half later Wallace's wife Cornelia emerged from the operating room and said her husband had no feeling from the waist down.

Asked later about the paralysis report, Billie Joe Camp, Wallace's press secretary, said: "It's entirely too early for any question or answer in that regard."

He said the bleeding and "everything else is under control. Everything from the operating room is very encouraging at this time... His blood pressure is 110, which is considered good."

Camp said the governor was conscious and talking when he went into the operating room and that Mrs. Wallace was holding up "very strongly."

Harry Stine, public relations director for the shopping center, said the governor's wife had been inside the bank.

"Mrs. Wallace was coming back upstairs from inside the bank. She was outside the bank when it happened."

"She said something like 'Oh my God!' as she ran and fell on top of him, throwing herself on him," Stine said.

Mrs. Wallace kept crying "Honey, honey" and had to be pulled from her wounded husband, Stine said.

In addition to Wallace and the Secret Service agent, an Alabama state trooper and a woman campaign worker were injured in the shooting.

Tom Burke, public affairs officer at the hospital said: "There is some indication of bleeding internally... There (Turn to Page Seven)

House Panel Listens To Survivor Of Fire

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 21-year-old survivor of the Idaho mine fire that killed 91 men told congressmen Monday of dead and choking men a mile underground and said he had no instructions on what to do in such an emergency.

The survivor, Byron Schulz, testified before a House subcommittee along with a panel of union officials who alleged the miners were trapped in the Sunshine silver mine at Kellogg with no maps of secondary escape routes, carbon monoxide masks that in some cases did not work, and elevators that soon stopped.

"When I opened up the shaft door I saw all the men dead or unconscious" in an elevator that had come up from 5,600 feet, Schulz told the select House labor subcommittee.

"The shaft foreman was dead, too."

Schulz said he told another miner at the 3,100-foot level where the men were being brought from below that there was nothing left to do but escape to the surface and said the other man called up to see if air could be sent down.

"But then he said 'Oh my God, we'll never make it,'" Schulz said. "And then he slumped over" and died.

Schulz said he put a wet T-shirt over his head and escaped.

Before that, he said, he had taken the cage elevator to 4,000 feet where he said "men were gasping for air—some did have masks, some did not" and sent them up and then went down to 5,000 feet.

German Peace Pact Objections Dropped

BONN, Germany (AP) — West Germany's opposition dropped final objections to Chancellor Willy Brandt's treaties with the Soviet Union and Poland, opposition leaders announced Monday, making it all but a certainty that the pact will be ratified in Parliament Wednesday.

The opposition Christian Democrats, who forced postponement of the vote on the treaties last week, cleared the way for their acceptance at a five-hour meeting of its leadership.

The party's federal executives voted 24 to 1 that government assurances that Moscow will hold to bargain-keeping guarantees on the treaties satisfied party conditions for a "yes" vote. Individual members of the party are expected to make a final decision in a caucus Tuesday on how to cast their votes.

The friendship pacts with Moscow and Warsaw are the keys to a wider detente process in which Moscow, Washington, Western Europe and the Soviet-led East European Warsaw Pact all have major stakes.

Failure to ratify them would considerably delay or even block this East-West understanding program besides almost automatically unseating Brandt's government. The ruling Socialist-Liberal coalition late last month barely survived two successive showdown votes which left the parliamentary lower house split down the middle. Brandt needs the opposition votes to get the treaties ratified.

High Court Rules In Amish's Favor

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court Monday barred the states from forcing the Amish to educate their children beyond the eighth grade.

The 7-0 decision held Wisconsin's interest in compulsory schooling must give way to the right of Amish people to practice their religion.

Forcing a high-school education on "the plain people" would gravely endanger if not destroy the free exercise of their religious beliefs, Chief Justice Warren E. Burger said for the court.

The ruling was a victory for the Amish and the Old Order Mennonites who have been subjected to criminal prosecutions in nine states for refusing to send their children to high school.

These descendants of Swiss Anabaptists do not object to a primary education to help their children read the Bible, farm and deal with other people.

But their concept of life aloof from worldly ways views schooling beyond the eighth grade as a threat to salvation.

In a 5-4 decision, the court held subcontractors taking over a job must deal with the union representing the workers on hand.

But the court said unanimously the new employer is not bound by terms of the old labor agreement and can try to work out a new one with the union.

Justice Byron R. White spoke for the court in a dispute involving guards at a Lockheed plant in California.

On another front, the justices advanced the busing of some 24,000 children in Norfolk, Va., who had been assigned to schools beyond walking distance from their homes.

The Norfolk school board had complained it would cost the city $3.6 million in one year to buy and operate buses to comply with the decision by the U.S. Circuit Court in Richmond.

Norfolk never had provided free transportation for students and the only public bus service in the city is scheduled to pull out this summer.

Nevertheless, in a 8-0 ruling, the justices left standing the circuit court requirement for free transportation, based on its belief that it would be a cruel hoax to assign a child to a distant school as part of a desegregation plan and then fail to help him get there.

64 Vicksburg Blacks Arrested For Boycott

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP) — The mayor of this historic river community describes it as the "most integrated city in the country."

The Rev. Eddy McBride, one of the leaders of a two-month-old black boycott of white businesses, calls it a center of "institutionalized racism."

McBride was one of 64 persons arrested here over the weekend. Forty-one of those arrested were charged with conspiring criminally to have an unlawful boycott and were held in lieu of $5,000 bond each. The other 23 were juveniles and were charged and then released to their parents.

The boycott was called when some blacks, including McBride, contended that authorities did not properly prosecute a white man in the case of an alleged assault on a 7-year-old black girl.

It has expanded into a demonstration for equal participation of blacks in all facets of city life.

McBride, 28, said the blacks now have 20 demands that include dismissal, demotion or impeachment of certain officials, a majority of blacks on the school board, equalization of municipal facilities and creation of a civilian police review board.

McBride said that blacks constitute about 47 per cent of the 25,000 population in Vicksburg.

The boycott, one of only a few staged recently in the South, has perplexed many white Vicksburg leaders, who say sincere attempts have been made at integration.

"We haven't had any racial problems here," Mayor Murray L. Sills said in an interview. "This is the first in the city. In fact, people all over the State of Mississippi look to Vicksburg and say: 'How do you get along without any racial strife?'"

Secretary Harangues Senate Subcommittee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers urged Congress Monday not to pass any end-the-war legislation that would undercut President Nixon's policy in Vietnam.

In an appearance before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee, Rogers called for an end to criticism of the President's response to "a massive North Vietnamese escalation" of the war.

The secretary of State said air and sea support of South Vietnam while American troops are withdrawing, and therefore, has always been a part of the President's Vietnamization program.

He insisted that Vietnamization is working, and said he believes the South Vietnamese will be able to defend themselves.

Rogers said he does not believe the mining of the North Vietnamese harbors will lead to a confrontation with the Soviet Union or China, but "probably is going to be a turning point."

"This is the least offensive move that could have been taken," he said.

Pentagon spokesman Jerry W. Friedheim told newsmen Monday the United States has placed mines in North Vietnamese rivers and canals in addition to harbors.

"This was in areas where movement of supply has been taking place," he said.

At the White House, wives of men missing or captured in Southeast Asia told President Nixon told them the harbors "would stay mined until prisoners are released."

Representing the League of Families of American Prisoners and Missing in Southeast Asia, the wives for 45 minutes with presidential advisers.

At last we may have leverage to get the men back, Mrs. Phyllis E. Galt, Nixon as saying.

Will Hanoi Heed New War Rules?

People today find it hard to believe that in the 18th century, when soldiers went into battle dressed as for a parade, the rules of war were of such a nicety that gentlemen generals offered their opponents the courtesy of the opening fusillade.

Today, few "courtesies" are left in warfare. Not only do napalm and long-range rockets and other modern weapons fail to discriminate between combatants and noncombatants, the destruction of the morale of an enemy's civilian population and his economic and industrial base is considered as vital as the destruction of his armies in the field.

Today, however, ultimate war with the ultimate weapons at men's disposal would leave entire continents scarred and ravaged and uninhabitable—if anyone was left to inhabit them.

Thus, the very horror of modern war's potential has led to the development of new rules of war; or rather, new rules designed to prevent the ultimate holocaust.

In the past 25 years, anyone of a dozen disputes in any one of a dozen places would, in pre-nuclear days, have resulted in war between the major powers—the Berlin blockade, the Korean war, the Suez invasion, the Hungarian revolt, the Cuban missile crisis, the Arab-Israeli wars, the Indian-Pakistan war, the Vietnam war....

Haltingly, gropingly, without any stated or formal agreement, out of each of these crises the superpowers have fashioned guidelines limiting the ongoing ideological rivalry between them.

Within those guidelines, there are certain things a superpower may legitimately do to protect or advance its interests. But there are bounds beyond which it knows it cannot step.

We have seen this graphically illustrated by recent developments in Vietnam, where our mining of North Vietnamese territorial waters has not led to a break in relations between us and that country's chief supporter, the Soviet Union.

The Russians know as well as we do that our actions in this war have not been directed against North Vietnam itself (though the North Vietnamese hardly appreciate the fact) nor against the USSR, but against an idea—the idea of world conquest by communism.

Similarly, it is not essential to Soviet security that a Communist regime succeed in establishing rule over all of Vietnam. If it can do it with a little help, good. But it is not worth forcing a military showdown with the United States.

We are now trying to get out of the war with something less than a debacle in the field and have taken this latest extreme measure to try to impress upon the Kremlin that its military support of North Vietnam has pushed us perilously close to desperation on behalf of our ally, South Vietnam, and that it is in Russia's own interest to help us get out.

As presidential adviser Henry Kissinger explained the other day: "What we have to face here is one of the problems great powers have in dealing with their clients, that the client looks at problems from its own regional or national perspective while the great powers may take actions in a much wider one."

The big unanswered question in the present crisis is whether the North Vietnamese, who have shown themselves to be a fiercely independent "client," are willing to abide by these new rules.

By FRANK ELEAZER
WASHINGTON (UPI) —It may be an overly cynical view, but some House members wonder if revenue sharing really is going anywhere in Congress this year.

True, it has been approved by the Ways and Means Committee, on a 17 to 7 vote. True, Ways and Means Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, who originally opposed it, now is on record for it.

Also true, both Democratic and Republican leaders have said they want this bill passed. And President Nixon has put it neatly at the top of his list of "must" bills for this Congress.

So why, in that event, hasn't more progress been made on this bill to pass out $30 billion over five years to hard-pressed cities and states? Ways and Means approved it April 17. The committee followed on April 26 with a formal report to the House. Mills told newsmen the bill would be on the House floor early in May.

It now is approaching mid-May and the Rules Committee—a House traffic cop without whose approval the bill cannot be brought to a vote—only now is about to start hearings.

Many Delays Predicted

After first setting the bill down for last Wednesday, Rules Chairman William M. Colmer, D-Miss., has rescheduled it for Tuesday. He said he did this after consultations with Mills and Speaker Carl Albert.

He figures the hearings will run several days. That means the bill can't come up in the House before the following week. And for the following week, the House already has made other plans.

After that comes Memorial Day, a holiday for House members as well as the public. So the revenue sharing bill can't come up in the House before the first week in June.

Could there be more delay? Maybe so. And it wouldn't take much more to make the whole effort futile.

Committee Busy

The Senate still must have hearings, get its Finance Committee's report, get the bill to the floor, debate and amend it.

But the Finance Committee will be busy in June trying to push its version of Nixon's welfare bill through the Senate. And along about July 1, both Houses will have to recess for the Democratic National Convention.

So states and cities with hand out for the first year's $5.3 billion allotment had better not count on it yet.

In 1969, Congress passed a special "minimum tax" supposed to make sure everyone who earns income pays taxes. Basically, it is a tax on "preference income"—income which, through devices generally known as "loopholes," escapes taxation or is taxed at special low rates.

Pay at Poverty Level

The "minimum tax" device wasn't completely effective and 114 individuals with income of $100,000 or more in 1970 paid no federal taxes.

What about those who were affected and did pay?

Rep. Henry S. Reuss, D-Wis., determined that those who were forced into paying taxes because of the minimum tax paid at the rate of 4 percent of their income.

That, he noted drily, is exactly the rate paid by persons with income of $4,000 a year—an income so low such taxpayers are officially classified by the government as living in poverty.

Schizophrenia Advance

Schizophrenia is a severe mental disturbance which afflicts some two million Americans and thus ranks among our leading problems of mental health. It is therefore a matter of great potential importance that what seems to be the biological cause of this condition has been discovered by a research team at Wayne State University in Detroit.

The Wayne State findings, which hold out the possibility of eventual control of schizophrenia, were reported in a paper read at the American Psychiatric Association convention in Dallas. Dr. Jacques S. Gottlieb and

Dr. Charles E. Fohrman and their colleagues say that a deficiency of an enzyme they call Anti-S Protein appears to upset the brain's metabolism and lead to mental disturbance.

The causal relationship is not yet clearly demonstrated; that must await clinical tests with schizophrenic patients. These will be undertaken, however, as soon as animal experiments satisfy the government that introducing the enzyme has no harmful side effects. There is good reason to expect a reduction of, perhaps a cure for, this widespread and serious ailment within a few years.

Michigan Primary:

Wallace Is Giving Senators Jitters

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
DETROIT (NEA)—Alabama's Gov. George Wallace is, in his own mind, so serious a candidate for presidency that he doesn't have to say so any more. Charged up for Michigan's May 16 Democratic primary, he leaves that out and just acts the part.

Things have gone so well for him here a couple of times that he has held an evening doubleheader, giving two speeches back to back to take care of overflow crowds.

Not since Florida has he had his rivals so jittery. Here we are in Michigan, where Democratic party politics is supposedly progressive, issue-oriented, influenced heavily by powerful United Auto Workers' leaders and others in labor. But Sens. Hubert Humphrey and George McGovern treat the place as if it were a giant suburb of Tallahassee.

Even in a year when predictions are so hazardous, forecasts of a Wallace victory in Michigan are easy to come by. You can, of course, find some cagey appraisers who say he'll be caught and passed, most likely by Humphrey.

Wallace himself, taken lately to offering reporters finely tuned analyses, suggests he might drop a little here by voting time.

You'd never guess he felt that if you watched him perform, as I did again the other evening in Flint. He was more fired up than in Florida, where he knew he was going to win big.

His partisans, packing the floor and four tiers of balconies in Flint's auditorium, cheered lustily as he announced his Tennessee primary victory. They'd been revved up by the Rev. George Mangum, Wallace's chesty master of ceremonies, who told them they were going to be on live television.

On stage in the supporting cast for the evening were a released prisoner of war from Vietnam, John Sexton, and one Caleb Smallwood, who carried a little cardboard box filled with the names of 4,700 Wallace backers.

Wearing a large white and red paper flower on his lapel, Wallace told his fans he was going to the Democratic convention at Miami Beach with "more delegates than meet the eye."

The fact is that halfway through the 23 primaries plenty meets the eye.

His speech was his usual flamboyant blast against Democratic party candidates and spokesmen who he says have "kowitzed to exotic noisemakers and elitists and ignored the average citizen."

Flint's average citizens rose happily from their red plush chairs as he told them:

"You are the ones. You are the kings and queens of American politics today. The average man has more political clout than ever before. Because of these 1972 primary results."

The governor, mindful of studies a while back that show many Michigan voters moved almost to hysteria in opposition to school busing for racial balance, thundered the obvious: He has got more issue stands to their liking than any of his primary rivals.

Of them he said: "They're too busy taxing the average man to death and giving the money to a bunch of welfare loafers and Hottentots (foreign aid)."

Wallace was so flushed with the sense of triumph (another primary win in North Carolina was looming) that he couldn't slip into his favored clownish vein even when telling his standard anecdotes.

A serious candidate must look the part. So he told his jokes like a scowling Jack Anderson disclosing another batch of secret papers.

But still the funny stuff scored. Wallace is some kind of threat and he'll be tough to beat in Michigan.

Ann Landers:

Can't Understand Why Wife Won't Give Up Husband

Dear Ann Landers: How can I get a 45 year old woman to face reality? Her husband and I have a once-in-a-lifetime, totally encompassing love for each other. It was our destiny to meet a year and a half ago. Our relationship is exciting, alive, passionate, deep and abiding—something their 23-year-old marriage never was. Our love was meant to be and no power on earth can destroy it.

I wrote and explained this to his wife and enclosed a picture of me with her husband to show her how happy we are together. She did not respond. I am fifteen years younger than she is and am considered beautiful. I am also interesting to talk to. His wife is neither. Many times she has behaved in an immature and unstable manner.

This man cannot give me up. He has tried. His wife's stubborn refusal to let him go is preventing two people from achieving complete fulfillment. Your advice is needed.—Frustration Unlimited in Chicago

Dear Frustrated: Since you have withheld so many vital facts—your marital status, your track record, his children, if any—I must lean heavily on the meager bits of information contained in your letter. Any woman who would send a picture of herself and her married lover to the man's wife to show her how happy they are is bananas. Such zany behavior makes me wonder about the objectivity and substance of the rest of your letter. My hunch is the man likes things the way they are—and I would be willing to bet that's the way they'll stay.

Dear Ann Landers: It happened again this evening and I am so furious I must get rid of my anger before I pop a vessel. I stepped in some dog-doo right outside my office, slipped, turned my ankle, ruined my shoes and used a few words I didn't know were in my vocabulary.

My office isn't in the slums. It's in the best part of town. What a disgrace that a person can't walk on the sidewalk without risking this disgusting nuisance. What can be done about it? I thought the streets were for people.—Mad in Ohio

Dear Mad: You are right—the streets ARE for people. So, in the words of Mike Royko, use the street and take the dogs to the rest room.

To put it another way, dogs use whatever facilities are available—so you can't blame THEM. It's the owners who should be penalized. But try and find 'em. Leash laws are, of course, a good solution, but they are not in force everywhere. Your best bet is to keep your eyes open—and watch your step.

Dear Ann Landers: The high schools in our city have had a real problem with pregnant girls. It used to be that they kicked them out, even if they were married. A few years ago pressure was put on the school board to change that punitive rule, so now the pregnant girls are allowed to finish the semester, married or not.

Teachers, however, get no such privileges. We must quit teaching as soon as we enter the fourth month of pregnancy. This forces teachers to lie, wear uncomfortable girdles and loose-fitting smocks. Naturally all babies are "premature." The last "premature" baby born to a faculty member weighed nine pounds and had a full head of hair.

Isn't this ridiculous? What do you think should be done?—Mad in Chicago

Dear Mad: Yes—it's ridiculous. It's also unrealistic. The rules should be changed.

Upon notification, the Engineer-in-Charge, Federal Communication Commission, 219 So. Dearborn, Chicago, 60604, will investigate. However, whether or not the operator is licensed, there are steps which will prevent further interference. In most cases, installation of a "high pass" filter on the television set will solve the problem. Such filters are available at nominal cost, if any, from the set's manufacturer or from a local dealer. The ham operator also is required to have a filter in his transmitter which restricts its signal to an assigned frequency. —Illinois State Bar Assn.

British Pair Wins Emmy Honors

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Glenda Jackson and Keith Michell, a regal pair from Britain, and "All in the Family," based on an English comedy, reigned over the 24th annual Emmy presentations.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Vitamins A And D Are Guilty Certain Vitamins Can Poison

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb — I am very confused about vitamins. My mother, who is 80, has very dry skin. For five months she has been taking vitamin A and vitamin D combined in one capsule, but since you wrote that these are the only two known vitamins that can do harm, I am worried about her taking them. I got these from a health food store, where I was told they were good for dry skin, and her skin is better. Would you explain what you mean by the statement that vitamin A and vitamin D might do harm?

Dear Reader — The 1971 edition of the American Medical Assn. Drug Evaluation states unequivocally that there is no evidence that taking more than 25,000 international units of vitamin A a day will be helpful. Large doses in excess of this amount taken for long periods of time may cause skin and bone changes similar to those from a lack of vitamin A. Severe toxic reactions have occurred in individuals who have taken large amounts of vitamin A. Whole fishing crews have gotten sick from eating fish liver contains too much vitamin A. It is poisonous to man and can even cause death.

Now, don't panic about how much vitamin A your mother is getting. The usual daily vitamin tablet that is marketed contains about 5,000 units, which is far below the toxic level of vitamin A. The problem develops when a devoted vitamin popper starts taking multiple-vitamin tablets from different sources and then drinks milk fortified with vitamin A and breakfast food fortified with vitamin A and finally takes more vitamin A than is necessary. Vitamin A poisoning is rare in adults. Infants and children are more susceptible to the problem, but no one should be trying to add vitamin supplements to children's formula without consultation with their doctor.

Vitamin D toxicity dissolves the bones, causing the calcium to increase in the blood and causing calcification of the soft organs, particularly the kidneys. Of course, if you are deficient in vitamin D, then you can get rickets. The 1971 edition of the AMA Drug Evaluations points out that infants and children receiving adequate amounts of vitamin D in fortified foods do not need any vitamin D supplements and they can result in an overdose. It is recommended that breast-fed infants or those fed unfortified foods should receive 400 units daily as a supplement. Of course, if the baby has rickets, a much larger amount will have to be given temporarily.

Because of the prevalence of foods that have been fortified with vitamin D and since most daily vitamin tablet preparations contain about 400 units of vitamin D, I suspect that no more than one of these tablets a day should be taken. Since 400 units satisfies the daily requirement, this added to the fortified milks and fortified cereals insures most people of getting more than adequate amounts of vitamin D.

I have no objection to people taking vitamins, particularly if their diets are substandard. But don't overdo vitamins A and D. If you are already taking a daily tablet with all the vitamins in it, don't take still more or another tablet unless your doctor recommends it. It is not always true that "if a little is good, more is better."

Oswald: "When declarer can make his contract without giving up the lead he can relax completely. He can relax just as much if he can give up the lead with complete safety."

Jim: "Sometimes one opponent represents danger and he can afford to let the other one in. Under those circumstances it is up to him to keep away from the man with the gun."

Oswald: "West is the man with the gun today. He opens the king of diamonds and continues the suit. South wins the second diamond and sees that his future lies with the club suit. If East has the king of clubs he can finesse against it and will have 10 top tricks. What if West had the king of clubs? West will get a club and five diamonds."

Jim: "If South is a good player he decides not to bother with a club finesse. He doesn't care if East gets on lead with that card since he only needs four club tricks for his contract. Therefore he lays down his ace of clubs and gets a pleasant dividend. West does hold the king of clubs but that is the only club in his hand. He has to play it on South's ace."

Oswald: "It turned out that West held a gun but it wasn't loaded and South scores game."

Selecting the Right Fabric and Design.
 A woman must carefully her size in choosing a print. It will either be right and attractive or wrong and disastrous to the wearer. A woman who is overweight and overendowed in her measurements is smart to avoid prints of any kind, and especially those print designs that are very small and busy, or extremely large and curved. But it seems most women are attracted by prints and patterns in fabrics. Here are a few pointers to remember:
 1. Tiny all-over fabric designs are best worn by women with good measurements and made into semitailored styles. The heavier figure will find it more becoming made into a blouse.
 2. Large, brilliantly colored floral patterns can overwhelm a petite figure, unless made into a fun dress such as a muumuu or beach dress. The tall woman with a good figure can be dazzling in such a fabric when it is made into a floor-length, summer evening gown.
 Dainty little florals or dots suggest youth and femininity and require a slim average to small woman to wear it well.
 3. Choose stripes according to their width, your figure, and the design of your pattern. Stripes are famous for adding height and weight to a figure or exactly the reverse.
 4. When a print or a pattern is used to decorate or trim, it is always more attractively applied to a solid colored costume.
 5. If your wardrobe is limited, a print, a floral, or other design of memorable distinction should be carefully considered.
 6. Don't confuse the appeal of a print or a design. Some would look better as wallpaper or as draperies.

How To Read A Person Like A Book 13. Superiority

What some have referred to as the authority of territorial rights gestures predominates in many superior-subordinate relationships. The more aggressive the superior is when the subordinate feels threatened or insecure, the more exaggerated their gestural roles are likely to be. A degenerating chain reaction then occurs. It becomes a "can you top this" encounter from which neither can retreat and which neither can win. Superiority in an initial handshake occurs when someone grabs your hand firmly and turns it over so that his palm is directly on top of yours, attempting a type of physical domination.

Many executives find out the hard way that many people resent another person's taking a "stand or tower-over position." Facial expressions in a superior-subordinate relationship, especially if they have existed a long time, also mean much. An example is the raised eyebrows, the slight twisting of the head, and the look of doubt a boss gives when he does not accept his subordinate's "make-a-million idea." Also a boss may avoid eye contact, thereby unconsciously communicating that he is through with the subordinate for the moment if the subordinate does not read the signal, bluntness can cause loss of respect for both parties.

Look-A-Likes Create Problem For Luncheonette Counterman

NEW YORK (AP) — "Sometimes I wish everybody lived in a small town instead of an ant swarm like this," said Jack, one of the genial countermen in a Manhattan drugstore luncheonette.

"Then I wouldn't have trouble like I did with Fred," he said, and then told this tale: "Fred's one of the nicest customers I got. Big job, but real friendly guy. Been drinking his coffee here for years. A month ago I mentioned to Fred that on the way home I'd dropped into a cocktail bar lounge on First Avenue the night before and seen him sitting in a corner having drinks with one of the pretty girls in his office.

"Don't wreck my reputation, Jack," he said. "It couldn't have been me. I do all my drinking at home."

"I kind of thought I had worried him, so when he came in the next day I whispered to him:

"Don't give it a second thought about me seeing you with that young dame over on First Avenue. I'd never tell anybody about it. I'm your pal."

"Thanks a lot," he said. "But I'm not the guy you saw. It must be a case of mistaken identity."

"Well, that could be," I told him. "I really recognized the girl, but I only saw the back of the guy's head."

"Overnight I got to thinking over the matter and realized I was wrong in at least one respect: When Fred came in the next day, I said: "Maybe I can clear up that thing we were talking about. I was wrong about it being on First Avenue. It happened in a bar on Second Avenue. Does that stir anything in your memory?"

"Well, Fred really surprised me. He got all upset. He asked what in hell was the matter with me, and wanted to know why I was trying to start ugly rumors about him, and said he had never been in a bar with a single girl since he got married five years ago, and that if he ever did want to play tomcat it wouldn't be with any girl who worked with him in the same office. Then he got up and went out without leaving his usual dime tip."

"When Fred came in the next day and I tried to straighten the whole thing out with him, he went by me without saying a word and sat down two counters away."

"He hasn't sat at my counter since. Every once in a while when he gets up to leave, he calls over and says, 'Well, who are you slicing up today, Jack?' Then he walks off before I can say anything. I guess I've lost a friend."

"I still don't know for sure whether the guy I saw was Fred or not."

"Anyway, like I said, if we all lived in a small town I wouldn't have had this trouble with Fred. In a big city like New York there can be two dozen people who look exactly like you going around doing things you wouldn't be caught dead doing, but you wind up anyway getting the credit for doing them."

"In a small town nobody would look like Fred. In a small town nobody looks like nobody else."

There Are Many Uses For Old Computer Cards

By POLLY CRAMER

DEAR POLLY—J.N. should take all those computer cards she has saved to the nearest elementary school. I have found dozens of uses for them in the schoolroom. They make vocabulary drill cards, sentence builders, number flash cards, and patterns-to-trace cards. Folded as tents, they label science displays and serve as name cards for parent's night and for substitute teachers. I do not know how I got along before my mother brought me the first of many I have used.—L.B.O.

DEAR POLLY AND J.N.—I have an idea for using those many computer cards for making flowers or mirror frames. Cut the ends of each card (to make a point) and fasten with staples. Cut out a circle that is about 10 inches in diameter and begin stapling the cards around the edge of the circle. Make another circle of the shaped cards in about an inch or two from the edge of the first one and continue as you wish. I usually draw three or four concentric circles into the cardboard and use these for guides. Buy an inexpensive six- to seven-inch round mirror that will make a perfect center for your computer card flower.—RHONDA

DEAR GIRLS—Even though a

she did not say so, I feel sure Rhonda must spray paint her computer card flowers before attaching the mirror.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—I cannot understand what I do that is wrong for azalea plants. The last one I received was on my birthday and in a month it was dead. Please, someone tell me how to care for them. I water mine just like any other house plant but they just dry up and die.—LILLIE

DEAR POLLY—My Pet Peeve is when more than two people visit the sick and then so sick in the hospital and then spend the time visiting with each other. They should meet in the waiting room and have their own talk that may not interest or may even annoy the patient.—E.S.

Angela 'Crazy' With Love And Desire'

Being A Woman In Winchester A Sad Business

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — The prosecutor rested his case against Angela Davis on Monday after reading to jurors her intimate diary declaration that she was "crazy with love and desire" for convict-author George Jackson.

"The people rest their case," said Asst. Atty. Gen. Albert Harris Jr. He had called 96 witnesses in seven weeks of testimony in efforts to prove that the tall, slim, former philosophy teacher plotted a Marin County courthouse invasion which turned to murder.

Miss Davis' motive, Harris claimed, was "simple human passion." He said she wanted hostages to exchange for Jackson.

The diary, dubbed by the prosecutor his most "critical" piece of evidence, was allowed in evidence in a heavily edited form. The judge cut it from 18 pages to 2 1/2 pages.

In it, Miss Davis declares that she and Jackson were married in a "wedding ceremony" which "fused us for life." Repeatedly, she calls herself "your lifelong wife."

"I'm crazy with love and desire... I feel as you do, so terrible is this love," she wrote to Jackson on July 9, 1971, while she was imprisoned in Marin County in charges of murder, kidnap and conspiracy.

The diary was found in George Jackson's San Quentin prison cell after he was slain Aug. 21, 1971.

Court was recessed immediately after the reading of the diary and announcement that the prosecution's case was ended. The defense told newsmen they would argue on Tuesday for the judge to direct a verdict of acquittal on grounds that there is insufficient evidence to prove guilt.

During its case, the prosecution entered more than 200 pieces of evidence, including four guns and registration slips showing they were owned by Miss Davis. The guns were found in a yellow van in which four persons were slain at the Marin County Civic Center in Aug. 7, 1970.

Jurors were given the guns as well as sales slips and registration records showing that a sawed-off shotgun which shot a judge, were owned by Angela Davis.

One of the last items entered was a short, pixie-style black wig which an FBI agent said Miss Davis was wearing when she was arrested after some three months as a fugitive.

Miss Davis, 28, a black militant and former UCLA philosophy teacher, is charged with murder, kidnap and conspiracy. In seven weeks of testimony, the state has sought to prove she plotted the Marin County courthouse invasion bent on gaining hostages to exchange for imprisoned convict-author George Jackson whom she loved.

The bill, adopted 32-2, now goes to the House.

The measure meets a complaint of public aid recipients that federal increases in their Social Security benefits, and some pension benefits, are taken away from their public aid income.

In the case of Social Security recipients, each could keep $7.50, instead of the present $4, without having deductions made from their monthly public aid grants.

In the case of pensioners on public aid, each could keep up to $7.50 in pension income without having it deducted from what they are entitled to receive in an aid grant.

Although the total cost is put at $4.5 million annually, Sen. Howard R. Mohr, Forest Park, estimated the cost to the state would be about half that amount.

Mohr said that although Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie vetoed a similar bill last year because the cost was estimated at $11.5 million to the state, the measure now had administration backing.

Mohr estimated affected persons receiving Social Security number about $5,240, while those in the affected pension group totaled about 13,857.

FIRE REPORTED AT MAC DORMITORY

The City Fire Department answered an alarm about 10 a.m. Monday at the Michaelson House Men's dormitory of MacMurray College in the 500 block of E. Douglas.

Apparently a cigarette ignited a smoldering fire in a trash chute clogged with paper, cans and other debris. City firemen used pressurized water cans to extinguish the fire and exhaust fans to clear the smoke from the building.

There were no injuries and no damage to the building.

theme and urged tax reform to benefit the middle-class worker.

Wallace's detractors had in the past accused him of racism, but the governor said he simply was concerned for the rights of all individuals.

Wallace had drawn backlers during his current campaign, but far fewer than in 1968 when he ran as the candidate of the American Independent party and carried five states.

Wallace's shooting recalled other political shootings of recent years. President John F. Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas on Nov. 22, 1963; his brother, Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was killed in 1968 as he celebrated his victory in the California Democratic presidential primary; and civil rights leader Martin Luther King was shot to death in Memphis, Tenn., in April, 1968.

Nixon in his statement said the nation has suffered "more than enough already from the intrusion of violence into its political processes."

"We must all stand together to eliminate its vicious threat to our public life," he said in a White House statement. "We must not permit the shadow of violence to fall over our country again."

Born on an Alabama farm Aug. 25, 1919, Wallace first took office as governor in 1962. Banned by law from succeeding himself, Wallace stepped aside four years later and his first wife, Lurleen, became governor.

She died of cancer in May, 1968. On Jan. 4, 1971, two weeks before taking office for his second term as governor, Wallace married an attractive, 33-year-old divorcee, Cornelia Sniely, the niece of a former Alabama governor. Wallace had four children by his first wife; Mrs. Wallace had two by her first husband, John Sniely III.

He had been campaigning on the theme that the little man was forgotten in today's big government and said the other candidates often stole his ideas. He opposed school busing to achieve racial integration, hit hard on the law-and-order

His supporters and his opponents alike denounced the shooting Monday of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

Those who worked in Wallace's campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination were shocked and angered.

Two of his opponents cancelled some of their campaign appearances. Many officials recalled the assassinations of Martin Luther King Jr., John F. Kennedy and Robert F. Kennedy, and lamented for the state of the nation.

Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota, the liberal who defeated Wallace last week in the Nebraska Democratic presidential primary, said in Kalamazoo, Mich., "I'm totally shocked by this savage act. It's gotten to the point in this country where a public figure can't speak out on the issues of the day and seek the presidency without being shot, then I tremble for the future of our nation."

He added, "We can only hope and pray for the speedy recovery of Gov. Wallace and we can only say a prayer for our country."

He said he was suspending until further notice all campaigning for the presidential nomination.

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, who last week defeated Wallace in the West Virginia Democratic presidential primary, rushed to the hospital where Wallace, his main opponent in Maryland, was being treated. Humphrey said he planned to go on late Monday with a planned television broadcast from Baltimore beamed to Michigan and Maryland.

"All I can say is, it's a sad business," Humphrey told newsmen. "It's terrible that

DEMOLAYS WILL SELL YO-YO'S FOR PROJECT, CONTEST

ROODHOUSE — The finance committee of Eli chapter, Order of DeMolay met last week and will present to the members next Wednesday night, May 17, at the regular stated meeting a project which will be both profitable for their chapter and fun for all young people in the area.

Though arrangements with Joe's Bi-Rite in Roodhouse, The Dunkin' Yo-Yo would be sold by the members with a tournament being conducted three weeks later on the parking lot of the grocery store with trophies and prizes being awarded to the winners of different ages and categories. Detailed rules and regulations will be presented following the acceptance by the chapter members. The yo-yos will sell for $1.

General chairman Terry Davis is contacting the adult leaders and announces his committee for the forthcoming Southern Illinois DeMolay Association meeting to be held at the Roodhouse Community Park Sunday, June 11th.

It will open with devotions service on the hillside overlooking the lake, followed by a pork-chop cookout by members of the Pork Producers and parents of DeMolay. Following dinner the Sweetheart of S.I.D.A. (Miss Vogue) and the Debonaire of DeMolay (Mr. Cool) will be announced. The balance of the afternoon will be spent fishing, swimming, playing a variety of outdoor games, at the trapshoot being installed and general fellowship. DeMolays, Rainbows, dates and families expect to total nearly 400 from 43 chapters throughout the central and southern part of Illinois, some traveling over 150 miles.

At the meeting of DeMolays and Rainbows Wednesday night, May 3rd, both organizations chose a representative for Miss Vogue and Mr. Cool. Results will be announced at a planned party shortly after school is dismissed for the summer. The DeMolay's candidates after earlier elimination are Donna Jackson, Elise Andras, Barbara Gibbins, Vickie Dan, Brenda Douglas and Sherri Harp. Because it was not known until after election of candidates, Sherri Harp became ineligible because all candidates for the state title of Illinois Sweetheart must be 16 or older at time of the state convention in August.

The Rainbows voted in the following: Alan Pratt, Jack Schultz, Terry Davis, Jeff Sykes, Craig Early, Doug Israel.

President Nixon personally called Mrs. Wallace at her husband's bedside and offered his hope and prayers for the candidate's recovery.

'Medichek' Starts July 1

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie announced Monday that a comprehensive preventive health care program for 200,000 Illinois children will begin operation July 1.

The governor said the program, called Medichek, will be for children from birth to five years old who are entitled to Medicaid benefits through welfare programs.

But, Ogilvie said, "Adequate pediatric preventive care is simply not being provided by the present Medicaid system."

Ogilvie said a $7 million appropriation for starting the program is included in the state budget which is before the General Assembly.

The governor told a news conference, "It is vital to the health and future well-being of this huge number of children to have continuous monitoring of their development in the critical early years."

"It would be impossible to estimate the eventual cost savings of this program, but we can know with certainty that the benefits to the health of the children will be enormous," he said.

The Medichek program will provide complete physical examinations, a comprehensive series of immunizations and boosters, blood and tuberculosis tests, and screening for lead poisoning and sickle cell anemia.

Ogilvie said that medical, dental, visual and audio examinations will be furnished by doctors, dentists, clinics and other customary providers of health care.

"The benefits of Medichek," he said, "can be of vital significance, not only for the 200,000 children we will serve, but also for the future of our society."

Testifying with Schulz were officials of the United Steelworkers of America, including Adolph Schwartz, the union's safety director, who said his preliminary investigation found:

"One cage-elevator operator 'must have been among the first to die,' cutting off that escape, and some miners said other cage operators did not have the two-hour oxygen supply required by federal standards."

"There had been no fire drills, no rescue training, and no maps plainly marked with secondary escape routes."

"There were enough carbon monoxide masks for half the workers at the mine and 'many of these self-rescuers did not work.'" was some indication of paralysis.

McKee accused the Sunshine Mining Co. of "the most callous disregard for even the most basic protection of its employees" and accused the U.S. Bureau of Mines of minimal cooperation with the union.

Burke said Wallace was talking to his wife as he was wheeled into surgery.

President Nixon telephoned Mrs. Wallace at the hospital to offer his prayers and hope for the governor's recovery. He issued a statement deploring the "senseless and tragic incident."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, one of Wallace's two major opponents in Tuesday's primaries in Maryland and Michigan, spent an hour with Wallace's wife at the hospital.

Both Humphrey and Sen. George S. McGovern, campaigning in Michigan, cancelled all further campaign appearances.

The Secret Service agent who was shot was identified as Nicholas Zorvas. A spokesman at Leland Memorial Hospital said he had been shot through the neck. After an hour of surgery his condition was described as satisfactory.

The wounded trooper was identified as Capt. E. C. Dohard, and the woman as Dora Thompson. Doctors said Dohard and Miss Thompson were "not in too bad shape."

Mrs. George Mangum of Selma, Ala., an official of Women for Wallace, said she was standing five feet from the governor when the shooting began.

"He was going to shake hands with the crowd and he was moving toward his left when someone yelled, 'Please Gov. Wallace, shake my hand.' He had turned to his left and extended his hand and there were some shots and I saw smoke and he fell backward onto the ground," Mrs. Mangum said.

Witnesses said a scuffle broke out after the shooting, "everybody was grabbing at the man who shot him," said Randy Bauer, a Wallace supporter. "A lot of scuffling and fighting broke out nearby."

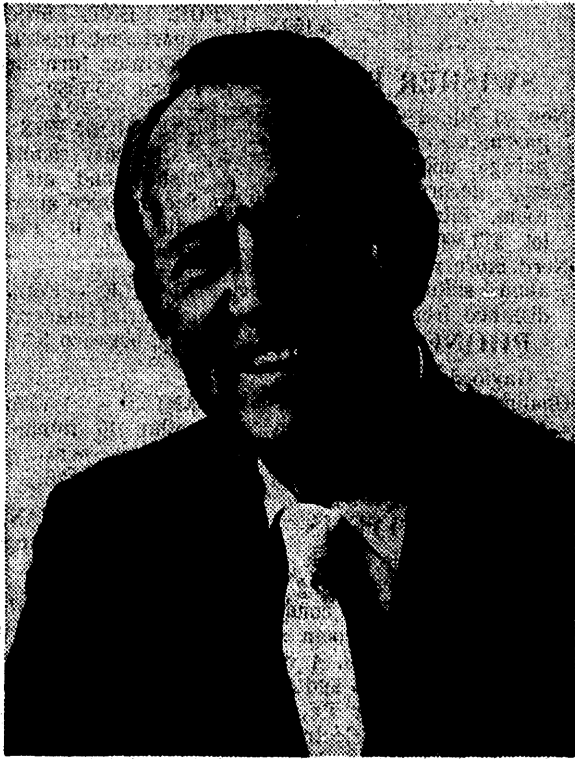

Bauer said the man carried Wallace campaign literature in addition to wearing Wallace buttons.

Jack Ingram, another Wallace supporter who said he was trying to shake hands with the governor at the time of the shooting, said the assailant had short, blond hair.

"He kept yelling, 'Hey George! Hey George!' The man stuck the gun right in his stomach and fired," Ingram said.

Dr. Brian Warren, who attended Wallace at the scene of the shooting said, "When I got there, his pulse was good. We put him in a station wagon but the ambulance did come and we took him out to put him in the ambulance. He said, 'I can't breathe,' and so I felt for his pulse again and I

"Low cost Hospital and Doctor Bill Insurance should be within the reach of everyone,"

Art Linkletter

"That's why I recommend this Medical-Surgical-Hospital Plan that pays you TAX-FREE CASH in addition to any other health plans you may have."

"25¢ covers your whole family for the first month."

Please read on for full details including the rates for the following month...you'll be glad you did.

"No matter how many health plans they own, most people end up owing money when they leave the hospital. Obviously, most plans leave money gaps in their coverage. That's why you need this unusual plan that pays you Tax-Free cash to use as you see fit."

Regular health plans don't cover everything

"Have you ever known anyone who got over a serious illness or accident with all his bills paid? Personally, I've never known it to happen," says Art Linkletter, member of the Board of Directors of National Liberty Corporation.

"The trouble is, many health plans pay the hospital but not the doctor or the surgeon. Or if they do cover doctors' and surgeons' bills, they set maximum allowances for various medical procedures, which means that if your doctor charges more than the maximum—and many doctors do—you must pay the difference from your own pocket.

"What's more, many plans do not pay for X-rays or exploratory surgery. They pay just one fee—not both—when your doctor calls in another doctor or surgeon for necessary consultation. They may not pay for procedures or treatments conducted outside the hospital—or any number of the other possible costs or deductibles.

"But now National Home has created an innovative and affordable kind of Medical-Hospital Insurance that helps to pay the doctor or surgeon and hospital bills. Just check these cash benefits."

What does this plan pay?

National Home's Medical-Surgical-Hospital Plan pays:
Up to $700.00 tax-free cash for surgery, in or out of the hospital, according to the schedule printed in your policy. If you require more than one operation at a time, we pay for the most expensive one.

Up to $700.00 tax-free cash for doctors' visits while hospitalized for non-surgical reasons. This means you get paid for doctor visits at your bedside, even if he just checks your chart, at the rate of $7.00 per visit (limit one visit per day).

Pays up to $250.00 a month tax-free cash—$8.33 a day while you are hospitalized—starting the fourth day for sickness and the first day for accidents. Payments continue for as long as you are hospitalized up to 36 full months. Yes, you can get as much as $9,000.00. Benefits vary for children and individuals 65 or over, as described below.

Perhaps you already have some health insurance.

Never mind. Even if one of these other plans has already paid some or all of your medical bills—you still collect from National Home. Even if it's for the same illness, every dollar from National Home is yours to use any way you see fit. Every cent is completely tax-free. Uncle Sam's collectors can't touch it.

And, frankly, you'll probably need every cent you collect since few plans today pay the whole bill for a serious accident or illness. Which is why many prudent and far-sighted people own supplemental health plans to help pay for the bills their regular insurance doesn't cover.

Why you may actually need additional coverage to break even.

It's frightening what's happened lately to the cost of medical care. Up 300% in the past 15 years. Which means that a serious illness or accident, with sky-high medical bills can wipe out a family's savings, take away their home, even plunge them deep into debt. No wonder the basic health plans most people depend on just can't keep up.

Today, with runaway medical bills staring you in the face, you almost have to have additional cash protection. With this Medical-Surgical-Hospital Plan, you receive tax-free cash to help pay the bills as you see fit.

More reasons why it never hurts to have additional cash protection.

Perhaps until today you'd never considered how much a long illness costs, or how great the burdens of high medical bills, including bills for surgery and hospital care, that many other plans don't cover.

Then consider this. Remember that, during a long illness, while you're in the hospital your day to day living expenses at home keep going on just the same as if you were well. When you think about it, it's easy to see why you should have additional protection that pays cash to use as you see fit. And, this National Home Medical-Surgical-Hospital Policy (NH19-1071) will help to relieve you of worry about the financial threat that arises when sickness or injury puts you or a family member in the hospital.

What happens when you're 65 or over?

If you are 65 or over now, you're paid half-benefits, but only for your first three months of hospitalization. Starting the fourth month, you collect full benefits thereafter. Coverage for sickness begins on the fourth day, coverage for accidents begins on the first day.

In addition, you collect the same cash benefits for operations, minor surgery or doctor's hospital bedside visits as folks younger than you. And remember, we pay this over and above your Medicare coverage.

Can I cover my unmarried, dependent children?

If you add Coverage for Children to your plan, you can cover all your unmarried, dependent children from 1 month through 18 years under all benefits of this plan. When a covered child is hospitalized, you collect up to $150.00 a month tax-free cash, starting from the fourth day for sickness, and the first day for accidents—up to 36 full months. And if your child needs doctor's care while hospitalized, or surgery in or out of the hospital, you collect the full benefits shown in your policy.

Frankly, there are some exclusions.

We don't cover pregnancy, any mental or nervous disorder, dental repair or surgery, except where repair is necessary due to injury to natural teeth. We don't cover injuries sustained through war or any act of war, or pre-existing conditions which manifested themselves before the policy Effective Date (for the first 2 years only). We don't pay if you're confined in a U.S. government hospital, or a nursing or convalescent home, or for the first 3 days of hospitalization for illness (accidents receive coverage from the very first day).

Questions we'd ask if we were you:

Q. How are National Home's low rates possible?

A. Simple. The advertisement you are reading reaches many thousands of people at once. Far faster and cheaper than any salesman could do. This saves us money—that's why you save money.

Q. What happens if I have a recurrence of the same condition?

A. If, between hospitalizations, you have resumed normal activities for just 3 months, you can again be eligible for full, maximum benefits. This applies to any number of times you have to go to the hospital for the same or related conditions.

Q. Will my rates go up or my policy be cancelled if I make too many claims?

A. We guarantee that the rate at which you begin with us will stay the same no matter how many claims you make or how old you become as only a state-wide change in rates, up or down, on all policies of your class and form number, can cause your rate to change.

Q. How do I collect my benefits?

A. Simple. We send you our easy to understand claim form the minute you tell us, by mail, you have a claim. Fill it out and return it to us. National Home pays quickly. In fact, we mail checks in less than two weeks from when we receive completed claim forms. And, if you have any questions, call us collect—we'll be glad to help you.

How to enroll.

Many people have asked us how we can afford to protect a whole family for an entire month for just 25¢. Our answer is simple. We want to make it as easy as we can for as many new policyowners as possible to receive and study our policies. By giving you your first month's coverage for just 25¢ we're actually giving you 30 days to examine our policy and see how it can improve on the protection you already have.

If, upon careful examination, you find you like your policy, you can renew it for just a few dollars per month for each adult in your family (depending on age—see table, above), plus $2.00 per month for all your children.

If, on the other hand, you feel you can do without this generous policy, you can return it in 15 days and get your money back. While you're deciding, you'll be protected by the policy—coverage for surgeon, hospital or doctor bills.

As you probably know, over 30 million people will be admitted to the hospital this year. Unfortunately, it isn't always the family next door. Be protected—send the enrollment form with a quarter right now!

Powell, Panthers Defeat Porta, 4-1

Mark Powell fired a strong one-hitter and got all the support he needed on Stan Sidwell's first-inning homer as Jerseyville tipped Porta 4-1 Monday afternoon in the opening game of the Jacksonville High School Regional Tournament.

Powell was in command all the way and did not allow an earned run, with one of four Panther fielding miscues ruining the shutout bid. Powell fanned ten and allowed only one free ticket, with Casey Duncheon's solid single to right in the fourth inning spoiling the no-hit possibility.

Jerseyville, now 14-3, will sit out today awaiting the winner of Tuesday's Jacksonville High (8-6) vs Pittsfield (13-3) contest for Wednesday's championship bout.

Jerseyville jumped on starter DuWayne Reichart in the first inning with leadoff man John Davis drawing a walk before Sidwell blasted a two-run round-tripper to left center.

The Panthers added another in the second on Kevin Hutchinson's solo blast and another in the third on Jones' double off Reichart and Powell's two-base blow off relief hurler Duncheon.

Winchester Nips Rout For Title

WINCHESTER — Jim Kirkpatrick's clutch single drove in the tie-breaker as Winchester nipped Routt 4-3 for the championship of the Winchester Tournament Monday afternoon. The game was moved to Monday after rain interruption over the weekend.

Routt moved in front 2-1 in the top of the fourth on singles by Kevin Kulish and Chris Yording and a Winchester fielding mistake. The hosts, who finished the year at 11-4, came back with two in the bottom of the frame on Brian McKinney's two-run single.

The Rockets tied it in the top of the seventh on an error, Joe Bernardini's single and Mike Steele's fielders choice.

The winning tally crossed in the Wildcats' turn in the seventh. An error, a single by

Orr Plans Surgery On Left Knee

BOSTON (AP) — Boston Bruins defenseman Bobby Orr picked up another prize here Monday before heading for a Florida vacation and said he would undergo surgery on his left knee June 9 at Massachusetts General Hospital.

Orr was presented a $6,000 sports car by Sports Magazine Monday as the Most Valuable Player in the recent Stanley Cup playoffs which the Bruins won in six games over the New York Rangers.

Orr said the operation on his knee, which has been operated on twice before is "not really serious, more of a cleanup."

Dr. Carl Rowe, head of orthopedics at the hospital, however, said he planned pre-surgery examinations to be sure "all of the problem is identified."

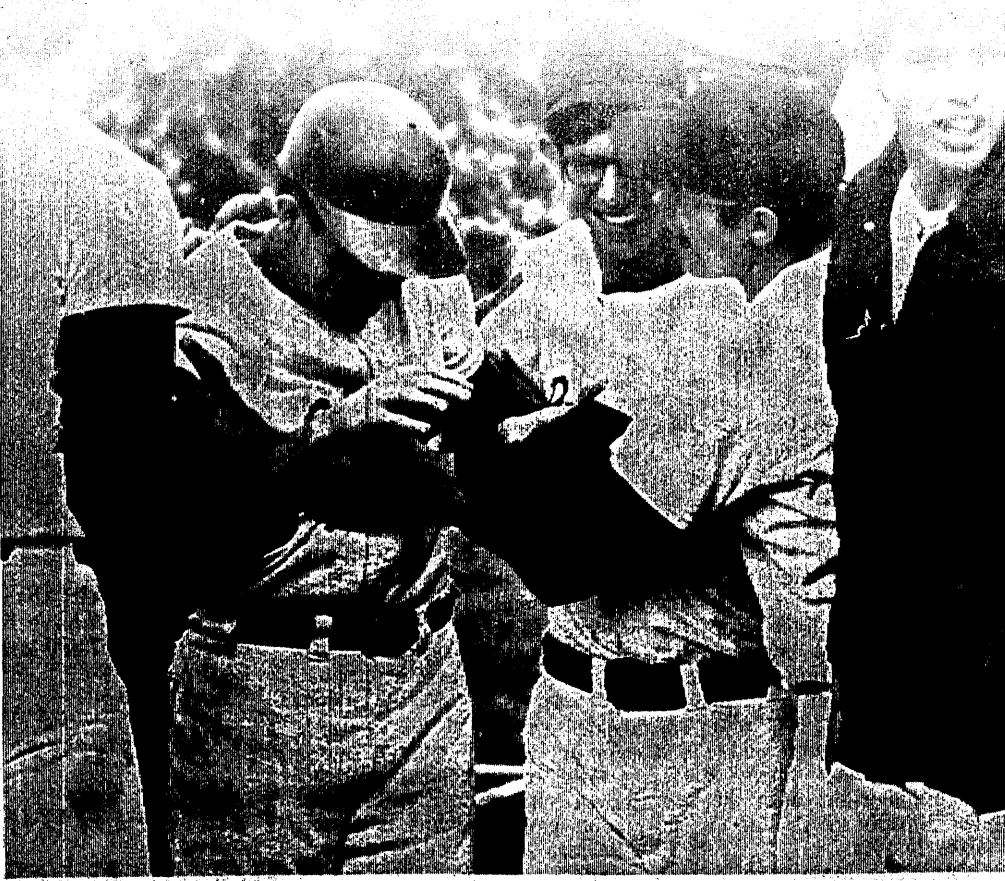

"I don't think we can tell exactly what we're going to do now. We have a clinical impression but we've got to identify the full problem."

Orr, the 24-year-old superstar, also was named winner of the Conn Smythe Trophy, which is worth $1,500, as the National Hockey League's MVP in the Stanley Cup playoff, and also was voted MVP of the NHL and its outstanding defense man.

It was his third league MVP award, second playoff MVP honor and the fifth time Orr has been named top defenseman in the league.

NATE PLAYER OF WEEK SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Diego Padres slugger Nate Colbert was named the National League's Player of the Week Monday.

Colbert hit three home runs and two doubles in the Padres' five games last week and took over the major league baseball home run lead with nine for the season. He drove in five runs during the week.

BIG BLOW: Teammates greet Jerseyville's Stan Sidwell at home after he slugged a two-run first inning home run that started the Panthers off and running to a 4-1 victory over Porta in opening game of Jacksonville High School Regional Tournament Monday afternoon.

Fryman, Phillies Topple Chicago 4-0

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Woody Fryman singled home two runs to back his six-hit pitching and Mike Anderson and Willie Montanez homered to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to a 4-0 victory over the Chicago Cubs Monday night.

Fryman took the loss, evening his record at 3-3. Fryman, who survived a shaky start, is 2-1.

Anderson connected to make it 1-0 in the fifth and Montanez opened the seventh with a home run. Greg Luzinski then walked and raced to third on Tommy Hutton's double but Jenkins fanned Don Money and Anderson.

After Denny Doyle was intentionally walked, though, Fryman lined a single to left

Fregosi's Homer Lifts New York Past Expos, 5-3

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Fregosi's three-run homer snapped an eighth-inning tie and powered the red-hot New York Mets to a 5-3 victory over the Montreal Expos Monday night.

Fregosi's homer came off reliever Rusty Staub's one-out single, a balk and a walk to Cleon Jones and gave unbeaten rookie Jon Matlack his fourth win, although he needed help from Danny Frisella in the ninth when Montreal got its final run.

Staub took over with a 2-0 lead in the fifth after starter Bill Stoneman, who allowed only one hit over the first four innings, sprained his back.

The Mets immediately tied the score on a walk to Matlack and Tommie Agee's fourth home run.

Montreal nicked Matlack for a run in the fourth on Clyde Mashore's double, a balk and a wild pitch off the pitcher.

The Expos made it 2-0 in the fifth on singles by John Bocabella, Ron Hunt and Ron Woods. Hunt was thrown out trying to score on Woods' hit.

It was the Mets' fourth victory in a row and 17th in their last 22 starts.

SPOLIERS CAPTURE GOLF LOOP OPENER

The Spoliars captured first-week honors Monday in the YMCA Men's Golf League with a four-man score of 131. Following were the Swingers 133, Dub-Nots 134, Slap Shots and Toppers 135 and Linksman 139.

The Spoliars were led by Gary Church and Diane Hess with handicaps 32's, Bob Byers with a 33 and Paul Curtis and Jerry Frey with 34's.

Best actual score was Mike Way's one-over-par 34, with Jack Fairfield turning in a two-under handicap 31.

Capt. Joe Robinson, Air Force Academy baseball coach, is a member of the 10-man rules committee of the American Association of College Baseball Coaches.

Lindsay Hairston, 6-foot-3 center, led Michigan State's freshmen in basketball scoring with an average of 29.9 points a game last season.

Gibson Loses Fifth As Cards Fall 4-1

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Dock Ellis scattered five St. Louis hits and Roberto Clemente belted a three-run homer to hand winless Bob Gibson his fifth defeat as the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Cardinals 4-1 Monday night.

Gibson and Ellis, 4-1, were locked in a 1-1 duel until Dave Cash led off the seventh inning with a single and Vic Davalillo, attempting a sacrifice, was safe on third baseman Joe Torre's throwing error.

Clemente followed with his second home run of the season, a blast over the right field fence.

Ellis, who struck out seven and walked one, gave up the Cards' lone run in the third inning when Lou Brock beat out a two-out infield single, stole second and scored on Ed Crosby's single.

The Pirates tied it in the fifth on Richie Hebner's double, Clemente (2).

Allen And Melton Power Chisox 4-3

CHICAGO (AP) — Richie Allen and Bill Melton supplied the scoring punch as the Chicago White Sox scored a 4-3 victory over Minnesota Monday night and stretched their winning streak to five games.

It also marked the 12th triumph in 13 home games for the White Sox, who kayoed Minnesota starter Jim Perry, 3-2, in less than two innings.

Wilbur Wood, 6-2, was touched for an unearned run in the first when Cesar Tovar was hit by a pitch, stole second, went to third on catcher Ed Herrmann's throwing error and scored on Rod Carew's squeeze bunt.

Chicago took the lead in the bottom of the first as Pat Kelly singled, Mike Andrews doubled, Kelly scored on a wild pitch and Melton doubled Andrews.

Minnesota's second run in the fifth also was unearned. It came on an error by shortstop Rich Morales, Eric Soderholm's double and George Mitterwald's sacrifice fly. Harmon Killebrew hit a home run with one out in the ninth for the Twins' final run.

Lou Piniella singled with one out to start the rally against reliever Horacio Pina, the third Texas pitcher, before Rojas stroked his game-winning double to left-center. Reliever Tom Burgett picked up the victory, his third in four decisions.

The Royals took a 1-0 lead in the second inning on John Mayberry's run-scoring single, then made it 4-0 in the fourth as Piniella, Rojas and Paul Schaaf singled, Dick Billings dropped Elliott Maddox' throw home, and Mike Hedlund and Fred Patek singled.

BALLET? Jerseyville's Stan Sidwell and Petersburg Ports' Kim Masten appear to be doing a dance step on this play at first base, with Sidwell out on a close play. Action came in Jerseyville's 4-1 victory in first game of Jacksonville High Regional Monday.

Braves' Niekro Back In Groove

ATLANTA (AP) — "When Phil Niekro works, it's exercise day in the bullpen," says Ken Silvestri, foreman of the over-worked Atlanta Braves' relief pitching corps.

Niekro, who makes bubbles with a wad of gum while he works, has completed five straight games, the only ones credited to a staff that has yielded almost five earned runs per game.

"Niekro is pitching about as good as a pitcher can pitch," says Manager Luman Harris. "I think he is pitching better now than he did in 1969 when he won 23 games for us."

Niekro won his fifth straight game as a starter Sunday, 3-1 over the Chicago Cubs. He lifted his 1972 record to 5-3 and lowered his ERA to 2.78.

Harris announced that he would put his ace knuckleballer on a four-day rotation as the Braves departed on a nine-game road trip to Houston, San Francisco and Cincinnati.

"I know Niekro can work every four days, and the way we've been going, I don't think the change in starters will bother our rotation," said Harris. "We haven't had any rotation."

"I can't wait," said Niekro, when told of Harris' plans. "When you're going good, you want to pitch as often as you can."

Control and more confidence in pitches other than the knuckleball have been the secret to Niekro's great start.

After losing 6-5 at San Diego in the season opener, Niekro dropped a heart-breaker to Los Angeles on April 23. He had allowed the Dodgers only three hits and was trailing 1-0 when lifted for a pinch hitter in the eighth inning. The Dodgers tallied three in the ninth to put the game on ice.

Since then, Niekro's only loss came in a relief appearance at St. Louis two days after he beat the Cards' Bob Gibson 2-1.

"Even though my fast ball is better and I've developed an off speed curve, it gets back to my not walking anybody," Niekro says of his success.

He's allowed only four bases on balls in 58 2-3 innings. He gave up his first walk in 31 innings against Chicago Sunday.

"All I know," says Niekro, "is that when everything is going good like it is now, I just can't wait to get out there and start throwing the ball."

"I've got my adrenalin flowing, and I guess when you're hot, you're hot."

Mark Hits 190.114 But Wants More

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Mark Donahue, looking for some extra speed to match Bobby Unser's weekend performance, worked his Roger Penske McLaren up to 190.114 miles per hour Monday and appeared far from satisfied.

"We are still searching for more zip," the moon-faced Brown University graduate said grimly. "And time for me is growing short to find it."

Though it was Donahue's best effort in two weeks of practice, it still was more than five miles off Unser's mind-boggling top lap of 196.878 m.p.h. and his four-lap 195.940 qualifying average of Sunday.

Unless somebody comes up with a miracle, the 38-year-old speedster from Albuquerque, N.M., has the pole position locked up for the 56th running of the Indy 500 May 27.

Unser took the day off to rest on his laurels.

Peter Revson, who held the Indianapolis Motor Speedway's old one and four-lap marks of 179.354 and 178.696 m.p.h. was busy.

He worked at length with his British Team McLaren car, a machine almost identical to the one Donahue is driving, but didn't reach the 191.123 he had recorded in practice last week.

Donahue and Revson are the key drivers still eligible to dislodge Unser from the pole, though three others can still make a run for it. The five were on the line and ready to qualify when the first weekend of time trials closed Sunday.

The process of selecting the 33 fastest cars for the third $1 million Indy 500 will be completed Saturday and Sunday.

Among top contenders still not in the lineup, and ineligible for the pole, are three-time winner A. J. Foyt and Al Unser, who is seeking his third triumph in a row in America's premier auto race.

Twelve drivers made the line-up Sunday, including 1969 winner Mario Andretti; Joe Leonard, the reigning USAC driving champion; and second-generation driver Gary Bettenhausen.

Andretti and Bettenhausen have a shaky hold on the other two front row positions, and these appear to be the fairest game for Donahue and Revson.

For Donahue, however, time was his greatest concern.

The three-time U.S. road racing title holder was to leave the Speedway after Monday's practice and head for Germany, where he will test the Porsche he will drive in the Can-Am series beginning June 11. He is due back at the Speedway Friday.

Revson has the remainder of the week to find what he needs.

The Scottsdale, Ariz., Cowboys won the midwest division (90 to 125 pounds) title in Pop Warner Junior League football last season.

Greg Wright of Windsor, Ont., gained an early lead in harness racing victories this year by winning 63 races the first two months.

Minnesota's recent 49-48 victory over Purdue gave the Golden Gophers their first Big Ten basketball crown since 1937.

Over New Fate

By MILTON RICHMAN

UPI Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI)—Willie Mays is incorrigible.

He becomes misty-eyed anytime he goes to the movies and sees one of those tear-jerkers and gets churned up inside every time he hears how something unfortunate happened to one of his friends.

He was soft-hearted when he first came up to the big leagues, he still is and probably always will be.

Any other ballplayer who broke in the way he did for the Mets Sunday, delivering a fifth-inning rifle shot home run in his very first game for them to break a tie and beat his old club, the Giants, 5-4, might get up on the dugout and do a dance the way Steve Blass' father did right after his son beat Baltimore in the World Series last fall.

Not Willie Mays. He didn't go into any dance. He looked a little sad. Almost as if he was going to apologize for what he did.

"There was a little sentiment in my heart," he said, trying to explain the bitter-sweet feeling of winning a ball game for the new club the first time out while destroying your old one at the same time.

"I wanted to win the ball game and yet in a way... well, I had feeling for both sides. It was a strange feeling to bat against a team I played for 21 years. You see the name Giants on their uniforms and you feel you should be out there with them. Look, you've gotta have some kinda feeling after being with one club that long. When you round third base, you look in their dugout and you see signs."

What signs?
"What I meant before when I said I saw the name Giants on their uniforms. I didn't see individual faces. I didn't know what the Giants were thinking. They traded me away, you know. Maybe they thought I couldn't play anymore."

The Giants didn't think anything of the kind even though Willie went into the game with a sick .184 batting average and not a single home run in the 19 games he had appeared in for them.

"Willie never changes," offered Tito Fuentes, the Giants' second baseman. "He won so many games for us, and now right away, he wins one for them. When he passed me going around second on his home run I called out to him 'Bat Boy.' ... I laughed. He knew what I meant."

That "bat boy" is an old Willie Mays' joke with the Giants. Willie originally picked it up from Joe Taylor, who played in the big leagues for awhile. Each time Taylor would hit a ball out of the park he'd hold out his bat a moment or so before starting to first base and holler "bat boy!" Willie got the ritual from Taylor, brought it to the Giants and they liked it and adopted it for each homer one of them hit.

"I thought I'd be more nervous than I was," Mays said. "I wasn't nervous."

He shouldn't have been. It was the 2,940th major league contest of his career counting the 2,837 regular ones, 72 All-Star games, 17 World Series encounters and four playoff games he has been in.

Besides he was among friends. Virtually all the 35,505 customers in Shea Stadium were pulling for him and the crowd would have been closer to 50,000 had it not been raining.

Even Sam McDowell, who started for the Giants and wouldn't even give his own brother a good ball to hit, had trouble looking upon Willie as the enemy.

"It's kinda hard to consider Buck the enemy," said McDowell using the nickname most of the Giants employ for the 41-year-old Mays. "There's just no way you can feel he's the enemy deep down inside you."

Still, McDowell didn't ease up at all in Willie pitching to him in the first inning. Instead of Mays being nervous it looked as if Sudden Sam was. He walked Willie on five Pitches, all of which had plenty of smoke on them.

On Mays' second time up in the second inning, after Rusty Staub had put the Mets ahead 4-0, with a bases loaded homer in the first, McDowell struck out Willie with one of his Sunday fast balls.

But after the Giants tied the score with four runs in the fifth, Mays led off the bottom of the inning against Don Carrithers, a 22-year-old right-hander who was only two years old when Willie broke in with the Giants back in prehistoric 1951.

With the count 3-and-2, Carrithers came in with a fast ball and Willie rocketed it over the left field wall.

Up in the stands, his old boss, Horace Stoneham, watched the flight of the ball wistfully.

"I'm sorry to see him put them out in front, but I'm glad I hit it," said the Giants' president.

Not too far away from him, Willie's new boss, Mrs. Joan Payson, principal owner of the Mets, had her own personal feelings about the home run.

"Just happiness, absolute happiness," she exclaimed. "But we're not too surprised."

Willie was a little, anyway. "I never had any idea of starting off this way," he said.

"But my first hit with the Giants was also a home run. Off Warren Spahn. Of course I was young then."

Willie giggled.

It was one of those old Willie Mays' giggles.

He shouldn't worry about his age that much.

He's younger than he thinks.

Is Darwin Vida Blue With Bat?

By AP Newsfeature

Bobby Darwin, the American League's new slugging sensation with the Minnesota Twins, is being mentioned in the same breath with Babe Ruth and Stan Musial and part of his story happened by accident.

Ten years ago he was regarded as a standout pitcher and the Los Angeles Angels, now California Angels, gave him a $40,000 bonus to sign. It didn't work out and after three years in the minors the Baltimore Orioles picked him up for their Elmira, N.Y., farm team.

His best year came in his seventh season. It was 1968 when he had a 10-6 record and 112 strikeouts in 163 innings for Elmira. That fall he took a job on a tow truck and one of the Los Angeles calls he answered involved a two-car accident. Al Campanis, Dodger vice president, was one of those involved.

Campanis remembered the name Darwin and when he saw it two months later at the winter meeting he drafted the pitcher. In 1969 Darwin lost six games without winning one for Spokane, a Dodger farm.

Tom LaSorda, a former Dodger pitcher working for them in the minors, suggested Darwin try to become an outfielder even though he had hit only five homers in eight seasons. The idea worked in 68 games for Bakersfield, Calif. In 1971 Darwin hit 17 homers in 91 games for Spokane. However, since the Dodgers were loaded with young outfielders and were thinking of getting Frank Robinson from Baltimore, Darwin would be expendable.

Darwin was traded last October to the Minnesota Twins for outfielder Paul Ray Powell, who didn't make the Dodger spring training roster. Minnesota scouts had followed Darwin and Manager Bill Rigney remembered him as a serious athlete from almost 10 seasons back. That was when Rigney managed the Angels and used Darwin in one game as a pitcher.

Darwin went three innings, gave up four earned runs and found his way back to the minors.

The $40,000 bonus was written off to experience by L.A. Angels, but Rigney, now Minnesota's pilot, remembered the six-foot-two pitcher with the level swing.

Darwin turned 29 Feb. 16. And the reason he is being mentioned with names such as Babe Ruth and Stan Musial is that both were pitchers before becoming outfielders and sluggers. Darwin hits home runs for distance but he can never match the longevity record of the Babe and Stan the Man.

Ruth was a winning pitcher who turned to outfielding at age 27. Musial was 20 when a shoulder separation ended his pitching career.

There are others who went from pitching regular positions in the majors. Johnny Lindell of the Yankees, Ken Boyer of the Cardinals and Vic Davalillo of the Pirates started out as pitchers. But none made the jump so late in his career as Darwin.

When he hits a home run, one would think of Joe DiMaggio, Frank Howard or Mickey Mantle hit the ball. Just ask Mel Sottilemyre of the Yankees. Darwin hit a home run against Mel into the deep left field stands in Yankee Stadium. The ball sailed almost 450 feet.

When Darwin comes to bat the entire Minnesota bullpen gets up to watch. Pretty soon Darwin will have the fans in the stands up on their feet. Sure he strikes out. What long ball hitter doesn't? But Darwin can't be a fluke because he hit homers in the first four American League parks he saw this spring.

And he's hitting 'em out with $15,000. Darwin can't qualify for rookie status because he spent 47 days on Dodger rosters, two over the limit. But maybe he's what the American League needs—a Vida Blue with a bat.

Preakness Field Set At Nine

BALTIMORE (AP) — The field for Saturday's 97th running of the $150,000-added Preakness Stakes was firmed at nine Monday as Freetex was named a definite starter.

Trainer Bill Raymond, hesitant after Freetex's sixth-place finish in the Kentucky Derby, decided to enter him after the colt worked five-eighths of a mile in 1:00.4-5 last Saturday.

"He turned in such a good workout, I decided to give him a chance," Raymond reported by telephone from New York.

Both Freetex and Eager Exchange are scheduled to be shipped to Pimlico from New York either Wednesday or Thursday while No Le Haze, the Derby runner-up, is due in Tuesday.

The other six entries for the 1 3-16-mile race, which will gross $189,800 if all nine start, already are on the grounds.

The Meadow Stable entry of Riva Ridge, the Derby winner, has been installed the 6-5 choice by Earl Hart, Pimlico's program odds maker. Meadow Stable's Upper Case also is entered.

Key To The Mint, from Paul Mellon's Rokeby Stable, was quoted at 2-1 after his impressive victory in Saturday's Preakness Prep, with No Le Haze at 6-1 and Freetex at 12-1.

Bee Bee Bee, winner of the Survivor Stakes at Pimlico earlier this season, was quoted at 15-1, with Eager Exchange, Festive Mood and Hassi's Image, who was 11th in the Derby, all 20-1.

The return to form of Key To The Mint probably will pose the major threat for Riva Ridge bid to become the first Triple Crown winner since Citation in 1948.

"Yes, Key To The Mint has me worried," said Lucien Laurin, Riva Ridge's trainer, after the Preakness Prep. "He had me worried all winter and still more so now."

Key To The Mint bypassed the Derby after winning the Derby Trial because trainer Elliott Burch thought the colt needed more seasoning. The Derby Trial was his first outing in seven weeks, after injuring a hip in an allowance race.

Laurin said he couldn't explain the disappointing effort of Upper Case, who finished fifth and last in the Preakness Prep.

"He never runs on the front end," Laurin said, but then added: "I may need him to go on the front end in the Preakness for a half or five-eighths. Then I will not particularly care where he finishes for I figure the 'big' horse (Riva Ridge) will take over."

The Yanks continued unbeaten and the Cards handed the Giants their first loss in Elks Little League baseball Monday evening.

The Yanks, now 3-0, blanked the Red Sox 7-0 on Jeff Waggoner's strong four-hitter. Waggoner fanned 12 batters in going the distance, dropping the Red Sox to 1-2.

The Cards slugged out eight hits and took advantage of seven walks and four fielding miscues for a 1-2 mark. A five-run uprising in the sixth turned the game around, with Chuck Colburn firing a six-hitter for the winner. The Giants are now 2-1.

Their Own Specials

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

"Say Hey," Willie's back. "I'm just glad I'm back playing in New York," said Willie Mays Sunday, after he had made a dramatic debut with the Mets, hammering a tie-breaking home run in a 5-4 victory over his former San Francisco teammates.

"There's no place to play like New York," said the 41-year-old Mays, who started his major league career in 1951 with the Giants, when the club was in New York.

While Mays was celebrating his return to New York, Tony Perez of Cincinnati celebrated his 30th birthday, driving in all of the Reds' runs with two homers, a double and a single in 4-3 and 2-0 victories over St. Louis. Elsewhere in the National League, Atlanta edged Chicago 2-1, Houston outlasted Pittsburgh 7-6, Montreal ripped San Diego 9-3, and Los Angeles at Philadelphia was rained out.

The victory gave the Mets a 17-7 record, best in the National League, and put them three games ahead of runner-up Philadelphia in the East Division.

Mays' homer, which tied him with former Giant Mel Ott for seventh place on the all-time RBI list with 1,860, overshadowed Staub's first grand slam homer with the Mets.

"It was Mays' day," conceded Staub. Perez gave Cincinnati a 2-0 lead in the third inning of the first game with a double that scored Jim McGlothlin and Joe Morgan. Then, after St. Louis had gone ahead in the top of the eighth on Joe Hague's solo homer and Lou Brock's two-run shot, Perez drilled his fifth homer of the season into left-center field. In the nightcap, Perez singled in a run in the first inning and homered over the right center field wall in the sixth in support of the three-hit, 12-strikeout pitching of Tom Hall, making his first National League start.

Darrell Evans' fourth homer of the season—his first in three weeks—broke a 1-1 tie in the ninth inning and lifted Atlanta past the Cubs.

Cesar Cedeño smashed a two-run homer in the first inning and Bob Watson hit the next pitch out of the park, triggering Houston's victory over Pittsburgh. The Astros added four runs in the second, the last scoring on a single by Watson.

The Pirates closed to within 7-6 in the seventh when Willie Stargell slammed a two-run homer, his sixth of the season and the 250th of his career. But unbeaten Jim Ray stopped them the rest of the way, gaining his third save against five victories.

Bob Bailey drove in three runs with a single and a double, Mike Jorgensen cracked a two-run homer, Ron Fairly had a solo shot and Tim Foli rapped a two-run double—his first hit in 29 at-bats—leading Montreal's attack against San Diego.

Student Revolt Sparking Twins

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

There's a student revolt going on in the American League West where, with the full approval of Al Worthington, Minnesota's dean of pitchers, the Twins have taken over the division.

It's a peaceful demonstration, though. At least most opposing batters have acted peacefully enough to give the Twins' pitching staff a 1.86 earned run average following unbeaten Jim Kaat's 4-2 victory Monday over Milwaukee.

The Twins are off to their fastest start in history with a 16-5 record and lead the AL West by 2½ games over Oakland. Kaat, 4-0, is off to a better start than 1966, when he won 25 games.

Prof. Worthington, who had been in sales and insurance since retiring as an active pitcher in 1969, came back to coach the Minnesota pitching staff this season and school started in spring training with classes every two or three days.

"One of the first things I talked about was attitude. Attitude plays a big part in winning and our pitchers have it."

Elsewhere, Oakland edged Boston 6-5, the Chicago White Sox downed Baltimore 4-1, Cleveland nipped Texas 4-3 in 10 innings, Detroit shaded Kansas City 3-2 but dropped the second part of a doubleheader 8-4 and California whipped the New York Yankees 6-2.

Kaat not only stopped Milwaukee on six hits but hit a two-run homer in the third. Two Minnesota errors helped the Brewers spoil Kaat's shut-out bid in the sixth and Billy Conigliaro homered in the ninth for their other run.

Boston first baseman Duane Josephson went from hero to goat in a manner of minutes against Oakland. First, he hit a two-run homer to tie the game in the eighth. Then, he made a wild throw to the plate with the bases loaded in the ninth that allowed the winning run to score.

Baltimore's slump reached four games when Chicago's Tom Bradley checked the Orioles on six hits and Rich Morales drove in two runs with a homer and single.

Cleveland nosed back into first place in the AL East, one-half game ahead of Detroit, when Chris Chambliss socked a 10th-inning home run to nip Texas. Ray Fosse and Eddie Leon homered earlier for the Rangers and Gaylord Perry hurled a six-hitter for his sixth victory.

Richie Scheinblum's three-run homer brought Kansas City from behind in the nightcap against Detroit and helped the Royals end a five-game losing streak. Freddie Patek and Paul Schaal contributed two-run doubles.

The Tigers rallied to win the opener on Dick McAuliffe's two-out, two-run homer in the eighth inning. Joe Coleman earned his fifth triumph with help from Fred Scherman.

California dealt winless Fritz Peterson his sixth straight setback in trimming the Yankees.

Staub Slam Takes Back Set To Mays

NEW YORK (AP) — Rusty Staub hit a grand slam home run, but hardly got any notice. There was another fellow in the New York Mets' lineup Sunday.

"He deserves all the attention it was his day," Staub said of Willie Mays, who was pinched against his locker by reporters after hitting a home run to help the Mets beat the San Francisco Giants 5-4.

"It was a strange feeling battling against a team that you played with for 21 years," said Mays, who was acquired last Thursday in a much-publicized deal with the Giants. "I had feelings for both sides after I hit the homer."

"I wanted to help the Mets, but at the same time, I had a feeling for the Giants. As I rounded third, I looked into the dugout and saw Giant uniforms. That's the only uniform I've worn until now. I didn't know what they were thinking."

After Staub belted the third slam of his career in the first inning, Mays stole the spotlight away by drilling a tie-breaking homer in the fifth, the 647th of his illustrious 22 seasons.

"I was nervous before the game," said Mays. "I was so nervous that I didn't want people to talk to me about the game. I never thought I'd do anything to win this one."

While circling the bases, Mays said his thoughts drifted back to his rookie year. "My first hit as a Giant was a homer," said Mays. "I remembered that we won the pennant that year, in 1951. My first hit as a Met was a homer. I felt that maybe we'd win the pennant this year. That's what I was thinking."

Mays got a standing ovation from the crowd of 35,505 when he first stepped to the plate against San Francisco starter Sam McDowell. He walked. "It was wonderful to hear the crowd," said the Mets' 41-year-old first baseman. "But I'm glad I walked. It could have been a different game if I didn't walk."

It no doubt would have been a different game, for after Mays walked, Sudden Sam was wild as the wind and issued walks to Bud Harrelson and Tommie Agee to set the table for Staub.

Dream Mile Turns Into Pipe Dream

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —

The best Jim Ryun could do in the mile run in the Martin Luther King Games was next to last, but he finished first and was well out of sight when he headed for the Franklin Field exit. The 25-year-old Ryun, holder of the world record for the mile of 3:51.1, ran 4:14.1 as Bowling Green's Dave Wottle won the rain-swept event over Penn's all-weather tartan track.

Ryun didn't wait around to explain one of his worst performances since coming out of retirement two years ago. He doubled back about 100 yards, ran into the stands and disappeared along with his wife. In the race he was among the first three in the early going, but folded as the third lap started and wound up beating only one runner in the field of nine.

Wottle won the feature event of the third annual King Games in 3:58.5. He hit the tape less than a stride ahead of Howell Michael of the Quantico Marines, who ran the final 200 yards with the winner almost elbow-to-elbow. Michael also was clocked in 3:58.5. Michigan State's Ken Popejoy was third in 4:00.2 with Penn State's Greg Fredericks fourth (4:01.9).

The so-called "Dream Mile" became a pipe dream long before the gun sent the field off Sunday. Of those originally billed to appear, Marty Liquori was out with an injured heel he has been nursing all winter, Italy's Francisco Ares never left his country, and Duke's Bob Wheeler didn't make the race.

With Liquori injured and even doubtful for the July Olympic Trials, Ryun still is Uncle Sam's brightest hope for a first gold medal in the 1,500 meter Olympic event since 1902.

Wottle is making a comeback of sorts himself after being out of action last year with an injury. The Bowling Green senior, indoor NCAA half mile champion, turned in his best mile time—the previous was 3:59.0 in 1970. He plans to try for both the 800 and 1,500 meter races in the Olympic Trials.

In other events, Dick Bruggeman of the Ohio Track Club won the 440 yard hurdles (49.8), Joe Lucas of Georgetown the 3,000 meter Steeplechase in 8:35.0, Dave Romanovsky of the South Jersey Striders the mile walk in 6:20.5, and Norfolk State the 440 relay in 39.7, all meet records. Gerald "Finker" took the 100 in 9.4 after Bob Ware broke the meet record with a 9.3 in the first trial heat.

Bob Seagren won the pole vault from Sweden's world record breaking Kjell Isaksson after the two eliminated others at the starting height of 16 feet, 6 inches. Seagren won at 17-6. Isaksson did 17-1, far short of his recent 18-foot and 18-2.

In the women's competition, Madeline Manning Jackson equaled the world record in the 800 of 2:02.0, held jointly by two Australian runners, Dixie Willis (1962) and Judy Pollock (1967).

PHILADELPHIA—World record holder in the mile, Jim Ryun, walks off the track at the Martin Luther King Games in Philadelphia Sunday after finishing next to last, 60 yards behind winner Dave Wottle of Bowling Green.

Unser Turns 195.940 As Rain Intervenes

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) —

Bob Unser drove a fragile, lightweight race car 10 miles at an unbelievable 195.940 miles per hour Sunday and said, "I feel like crying."

"We had our necks stuck out a mile, and for the first time in years I really felt like I was driving at the ragged edge of disaster," added the man who almost surely has clinched the pole position for the 56th running of the Indianapolis 500-mile race May 27.

Plagued by bad weather that washed out all of Saturday's first session of time trials, Speedway officials managed to place 12 drivers in the 33-car field after waiting out rain showers that twice interrupted proceedings Sunday.

Even then, five drivers were still waiting on the qualifying line when the track closed at 6 p.m., among them the No. 1 and No. 2 qualifiers for the 1971 race, Peter Revson and Mark Donohue.

Only these two appear to have a chance at dislodging Unser from the pole. Revson has been clocked at 190-plus in practice.

With a week to find the answer, Revson and Donohue at the very least could knock the other current front row sitters, Gary Bettenhausen and Mario Andretti, further down in the ranks.

Though they aren't eligible for the pole, still to be heard from are such chargers as Al Unser, A. J. Foyt Jr., and newcomer Bill Vukovich.

Foyt and Al Unser broke their engines during qualifying attempts, while Vukovich lost control after completing one lap and crashed into the first turn barrier.

Al Unser won the 1970 and 1971 races and Foyt is the only active three-time winner. Foyt was the lone driver to attempt to qualify Saturday, but a piston broke in his Coyote-Ford and he couldn't make repairs in time to run Sunday.

Aside from Vukovich, the day's only other crash involved front-runner Jim Malloy, Denver, Colo. Malloy's Eagle spun 75 feet and crashed into the third turn wall head on during the Sunday morning practice session.

He was listed in critical condition at an Indianapolis hospital with two broken legs, a broken arm and burns on the face, arms and legs.

Bobby Unser, driving a new Eagle produced by Dan Gurney's All-American Racers, rocketed around the 2½ mile oval to compile his 195.940 average.

Bettenhausen was Sunday's second best qualifier at 188.377 m.p.h. He is driving a McLaren fielded by Roger Penske.

Mario Andretti, the 1969 Indy 500 winner and three-time national driving champ, grabbed a shaky hold on the other front row berth by qualifying at 187.617 in one of the Parnelli Jones team cars.

Frank Robinson May Be Missed More Than Felt

CHICAGO (AP) —

The Baltimore Orioles are in one of their worst slumps in recent years and there's a growing suspicion they miss the slugging of Frank Robinson more than expected.

The Orioles dropped a 4-1 decision to the Chicago White Sox Sunday for their fourth straight loss and now have a 1-7 record on the road this season.

They also have slumped to an 11-11 record, marking the first time they have dropped to the .500 level under the guidance of Manager Earl Weaver who took over in the middle of the 1968 season and led the Orioles to pennants in the last three seasons.

Still Weaver isn't worried and rationalized the trading of Robinson to the Los Angeles Dodgers.

"Do we miss Frank?" reiterated Weaver. "It all depends on whether Frank would be hitting. If he'd be hitting home runs, I'd say we'd miss him. But if he'd be hitting like Boog and Brooks, I'd say no. But there's no way you can gauge it."

Boog Powell, the hulking first baseman, is strapped with a .155 average and Brooks Robinson is hovering around .250 and has yet to hit a home run.

"We're just not playing well," said Brooks when asked if he thought the club missed Frank who was the team leader. "If we were doing the things we're capable of doing, we wouldn't miss Frank."

"But when we don't play well, people say we miss him. Sure, you have to miss 30 home runs, 100 runs batted in and a 3.00 average," continued Brooks.

"But we have the guys who can make it up. Yet we have to play like we did last year to make it up. When you're scoring runs you can overlook a lot of things. But when you're not, you get into certain situations where you think you'd like to have him back and maybe he could put you on the board."

"That's been part of our trouble," added Brooks. "We haven't been getting on the board first."

The White Sox aren't having such troubles as they stretched their string to four straight triumphs and now have a fantastic 11 victories in 12 games at home.

They beat Dave McNally, author of four shutouts this season, for the first time since 1969 as Tom Bradley hurled a

Net Title Aiming For Jack

DALLAS (AP) —

Ken Rosewall overcame fellow Australian Rod Laver and fatigue, the deadliest enemy of all for a 38-year-old tennis professional to successfully defend his world Championship of Tennis crown Sunday on a dramatic tiebreaker in the fifth set.

Rosewall, for the second consecutive year, defeated Laver in the finals for the $50,000 check—tennis' richest prize.

The match lasted three hours and 50 minutes with Rosewall prevailing 4-6, 6-0, 6-3, 6-7, and 7-6.

The last set went down to the WCT best-of-12 point tie-breaker with Rosewall winning 7-5 as Laver netted a backhand.

Rosewall was so tired at the end he was stumbling and his head sagged as he gathered strength between points.

"I knew he was exhausted and I had a great chance," said a disappointed 33-year-old Laver, a tennis millionaire who twice won the grand slam. "He's tough. My record is very good against him overall but there is just something about this tournament that makes him hang in there."

Laver got a consolation prize of $20,000 and vowed to take the trophy next year.

"I forgot about the match after I shook Kenny's hand," Laver said. "The third time is lucky. Everybody look out for me next year."

Third place in the tournament went to Arthur Ashe who earned $10,000 by crushing Marty Riessen 6-3, 6-1. Riessen got $6,000.

After Laver captured the first set, his usually powerful serve began to backfire and Rosewall won the set six to love as the crowd of 7,800 fans roared in Moody Coliseum.

Laver hit a backhand into the net on set point to lose the third set, but the red-haired Laver won the fourth set on a tiebreaker 7-3 to set the stage for the drama.

Laver jumped ahead 3-0 but Rosewall scratched back. Laver double faulted and Rosewall held on as Laver backhanded the match winner into the net.

"It's a great feeling to win a tournament like this twice after you've spent 16 years on the professional circuit," said Rosewall. "I don't think Rod was serving as well as he usually does. I do know I was getting awfully tired."

Rosewall summoned up enough strength to take the keys to his new Lincoln Continental, put on a new diamond ring, and take away a giant trophy.

Batting Tip From Busby Drops Cubs

ATLANTA (AP) —

Darrell Evans took a tip from third base coach Jim Busby, belted a ninth inning home run and handed knuckleballer Phil Niekro his fifth straight victory as a starter Sunday.

"Busby told me to open up my stance, keep my shoulder in and wait on an inside pitch," said Evans. "He was right. That first pitch was right there. Finally, I hit one."

Evans' first homer in three weeks and his fourth of the season gave the Braves a 2-1 decision over Chicago, snapping the Cubs' four-game winning streak.

The blast over the center field fence broke up a pitching duel between Niekro, 5-3, and Milt Pappas, 3-3.

"Pappas was throwing harder than I've ever seen him," said Evans, "but the pitch in the ninth wasn't where he wanted it. It was a high fast ball."

The Braves had scored their first run in 22 innings against Cub pitching in the first on doubles by Felix Millan and Earl Williams.

The Cubs, who had won four previous games against Atlanta this year, gained a 1-1 tie in the second when Jose Cardenal belted his third homer of the year. Although both clubs threatened several times, it remained for Evans to settle the issue in the ninth.

Evans said he knew he had a homer as soon as he hit the pitch.

"Eddie Matthews (first base coach) was waving me to come on and run hard," said Evans. "I wanted to stop and tell him not to worry because it was going out of the park."

Niekro, whose control has been remarkable all year, issued a walk to Billy Williams in the sixth, his first in 31 innings. He has allowed only four walks in 58 2/3 innings this year.

Niekro, who lost in a relief role at St. Louis one week ago, has been the winning pitcher in Atlanta's last four victories. He has pitched five straight complete games.

"I'm just making the right pitches when I've had to," said Niekro. "A couple if Cub batters told (catcher) Earl Williams they were surprised with my fastball."

"I don't know why, but for some reason I'm throwing the ball a lot harder this year," he added.

BRITISH RAIL

SERVICES RESUME

LONDON (AP) — British rail services resumed slowly Monday after a total shutdown over the weekend, and management spokesmen predicted a return to normal schedules in the next day or so.

Trouble began last Friday when 300,000 rail workers backed their demands for higher pay by resuming a nationwide slowdown.

The government obtained a court ruling Saturday ordering the men back to work.

Management and union leaders have agreed on a 12.5 per cent pay raise but are arguing whether it will begin May 1 or June 1.

"I want to knock off Jack (Nicklaus)," he said, lacking even a trace of bravado. "I'll play next week (in the Danny Thomas-Memphis Open starting Thursday), but I'm not sure what I'll do after that. I want to be right for the U.S. Open. I want to get Nicklaus."

Nicklaus announced earlier this year his hope of winning the Big Four titles this year, the United States and British Opens, the Masters and PGA. He has won the Masters. The U.S. Open is scheduled June 15-18 at Pebble Beach, Calif.

Nicklaus skipped this event but will play in Memphis.

Heard's $25,000 first prize increased his tour winnings this season to $106,000, second to Nicklaus' $154,000.

The NIT was his third career victory and second this season.

He blew a two-stroke lead with a double bogey on the 17th hole which dropped him into a tie with Fred Marti. But he won on the 18th by two strokes when he sank a 25-foot birdie putt following a Marti bogey from a buried lie in a bunker.

Heard, 23, finished with a three-over-par 73 and a 275 total, five-under-par on the very tough 7,142-yard Colonial Country Club course.

Marti, winless after nine four years, saw his hopes for a victory fade at the 18th hole when he observed the impossible shot he faced from the bunker.

"Going to 17 I didn't expect to win," Marti said. "Then I got second life. But I just hit a bad shot on the last hole. That's all you can call it, just a bad shot."

Marti finished with a 72—277, alone in second.

Dave Stockton, a one-time winner here, took third with 72-278 while Phil Rodgers, tied with Marti going into the final round, slipped to a 74-179.

They were the only four players able to break par for four days. Only two subpar scores were recorded on the final day with Art Wall shooting a 66—286 and Bob Murphy a 69—290, good enough to place him fifth.

Ceremony Marks Okinawa Return

TOKYO (UPI)—The United States returned Okinawa and the 72 other Ryukyu Islands to Japan Monday in a ceremony that Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said resolved "the last major issue" of World War II.

Hundreds of riot police surrounded the Nippon Budokan (Martial Arts) Hall, where the formal reversion ceremony was held, to protect against demonstrations by Japanese protesting the maintenance of American troops and bases on Okinawa after the reversion.

The only incident occurred about one mile from the hall when students threw three Molotov cocktails into the headquarters complex of the Japanese Self-Defense Force.

There was no serious damage, police said, and four students were arrested.

In the 27 years since Okinawa was captured in the last major land battle of World War II, the United States has built the island into a major military bastion of the western Pacific. Under terms of the reversion treaty, some 45,000 American troops and 88 bases will be maintained on the 454-square-mile island, which now is a prefecture of Japan.

Agnew, representing President Nixon, sat with Emperor Hirohito, the empress and Prime Minister Eisaku Sato for the ceremony conducted before approximately 10,000 persons inside the hall.

"This ceremony marks a turning point in the relations between our two countries or it resolves the last major issue of the war," said Agnew. "It is the end of an era but, more importantly, it is the beginning of a new one in which we can expect an even greater community of interests between our two great nations."

The United States captured Okinawa June 21, 1945, after a 24-month battle in which 12,500 Americans, 110,000 Japanese and more than 100,000 civilians were killed.

For Sato, the reversion climaxed a seven years in which his administration had staked its life on the return of Okinawa to Japan. He now is expected to retire within a few months. During the ceremony, tears welled in his eyes and his voice broke with emotion when he spoke.

"The sufferings experienced during and after the war by the people in Okinawa prefecture cannot be fully compensated," he said. "But I am determined to exert full efforts for promotion of the overall development and building of an affluent Okinawa."

Hirohito spoke briefly, saying he was "extremely happy that the reversion of Okinawa, which had been the long-cherished desire of the people, has materialized."

Although the return of Okinawa was welcomed throughout Japan, the continued presence of American troops on the island has been increasingly criticized. And it has caused an economic problem for the island's 950,000 Japanese who Monday converted their U.S. dollars into Japanese yen, which will be the currency in use now.

Although the treaty continued U.S. military presence on the island, it gave assurances the United States would not maintain nuclear weapons there.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

By STELLA WILDER

TUESDAY, MAY 16—Born today, you are one who will always be granted more opportunities than you need to make good at any particular endeavor. But whether or not you will take advantage of those opportunities to the point of achieving real success with your many projects is another story. For you are not an especially ambitious person; indeed, you are quite the opposite and actually care very little about "getting ahead" in the world. What you do care about, however, is bringing to fruition whatever talents you have been gifted with—and this you will work at.

One who works best left on his own, you will probably be able to develop best those abilities which are exercised in more or less isolation from other people. That, of course, means that some one of the arts will very likely claim the major portion of your interest. Writing—perhaps the "loneliest" of the arts—would suit your personality, for it would require intense concentration and a place away from others in which to work.

Although you are not particularly inclined to physical activity either in the form of work or sport, you do enjoy a challenge to your physical mettle. Strong and extremely well coordinated in spite of relatively little physical activity, you show up to best advantage in individual sporting activities—track, for example, swimming, riding, and so on.

To find what is in store for you, tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Wednesday, May 17

TAURUS (April 21-May 21)—Financial matters are important this morning—but their importance wanes as the day wears on. Don't allow yourself to become overanxious.

GEMINI (May 22-June 21)—Conclusions reached this morning may well be erroneous. Do what you can to put off making a decision until later in the day.

CANCER (June 22-July 23)—The Cancer who relaxes his efforts now may well find that success has escaped him for the rest of the month. A good day for getting the jump on opposition.

LEO (July 24-Aug. 23)—Cash outlay appears frightening in its size at the moment. When you relax and consider fringe elements of the day's purchase, you may feel better.

VIRGO (Aug. 24-Sept. 23)—Primary activities make it impossible for you to take on any extra responsibilities just now. Make your views a matter of public record.

LIBRA (Sept. 24-Oct. 23)—A chance to increase your earnings may well come your way this morning. Accept an opportunity to share recent gains with good friends.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22)—Keep your pocketbook shut tight. This is no time to take monetary risks—nor to advise others to do so. Allow a friend a special privilege.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 22)—Shape the day's activities around your recent change of heart regarding new friends. Make an effort to spread good news.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 23 - Jan. 20)—Those who really matter to you will be the first to notice your distress today. But those who fail to notice must not be shut out of your day.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21-Feb. 19)—Make your appeal to higher-ups regarding your present situation on the employment scene something of which you can be proud. Avoid later regrets.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 21)—A day when your social life brings you into contact with one who can be of very great help to you in the future. Don't miss the chance.

ARIES (March 22-April 20)—The admiration of others does much to persuade you to continue in your present activities. You might be wise, however, to stop to think things through.

A casserole-style main dish.

2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1½ cups milk
1 tablespoon prepared yellow mustard
¾ teaspoon salt
6 hard-cooked eggs, sliced
1 can (7½ ounces) crabmeat, drained and flaked
1 cup coarse cracker crumbs
In a 1-quart saucepan over low heat, melt butter; stir in flour. Remove from heat. Gradually stir in milk, keeping smooth. Cook over moderately low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened and bubbly. Whisk in mustard and salt. In a 1½-quart buttered casserole, make alternate layers of sliced eggs, crabmeat, mustard sauce and cracker crumbs. Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until bubbly hot—30 to 35 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Lombardi Film 'Second Effort' To Be Featured

The May meeting of the West Central Chapter of the International Management Council, sponsored by the Sherwood Edy Memorial YMCA of Jacksonville, will be held Tuesday starting at 6 p.m. at the Holiday Inn.

Highlighting the program will be the film, "Second Effort" by Vince Lombardi, which is rated as one of the top films for management training. Other items on the program will be the adoption of a constitution for the newly organized local council, and the presentation of a survey for use in planning and developing future programs and training.

Membership in the International Management Council is open to men and women who are foremen, supervisors, superintendents, or managers. The specific objectives of a council are to help supervisory managers to grow through the process of being up to date on the best thinking in management.

Meetings are held monthly throughout September and May. Annual membership dues, which are tax deductible, are $30. Cost of the dinner meetings are $4. Non-members interested in attending Tuesday's meeting can make reservations with Donald F. Hardesty, executive director of the YMCA.

Officers of the local chapter are Ken Medlock of Mobil Chemical, president; Chuck Erdman of Carnation, vice president; Bob Duvendack of National Starch, treasurer; Ken Ford of Cater-Vend, secretary; and Don Price of Mobil Chemical, program chairman.

Medlock, Erdman, Price, and Ron Ford, along with Don Hardesty, recently attended the Division 4 meeting of the International Management Council. Workman Charged

Claim Cigarette Butt Started Fire Killing 116

OSAKA, Japan (UPI)—It was getting on toward midnight and the scene in the Playtown Cabaret was about the same as an American nightclub on a Saturday night—the cigarette smoke was thick and liquor was flowing.

Almost 200 persons jammed into the club on the top floor of the seven-story Sennichi Department Store building, Miyako later 11c of them were dead.

Police believe that four floors below the nightclub, an electrician dropped a cigarette butt that ignited racks of fiber clothes.

The smoke billowed upward through the building, causing panic in the cabaret. Scores of persons tried to jump to safety but crashed to their death on the sidewalk 65 feet below. Others tried to use the emergency stairs. But one exit was covered by a curtain, and a corridor leading to the stairway was blocked by a sofa. Victims inside the club either suffocated or were trampled to death by those trying to flee. Firemen later found 116 bodies, and 38 others were injured. It was the worst single fire in Japan since 99 persons died in a blaze at a Roman Catholic monastery in Yokohama on Feb. 17, 1955.

Osaka is about 350 miles southwest of Tokyo. The department store is in the heart of the city's entertainment district and firefighting efforts were hampered by thousands of onlookers who crowded the streets.

Police said 49 men and 67 women died in the fire. Many of the women were hostesses, divorcees working at the club to support their children.

So You Yearn To 'Be Free'

To be at all fashionable today, you must be frustrated with your 8-to-5 job, tired of the old rat race, disgusted with a high-powered city career and longing, longing for "the good life."

The good life is variously described as "going back to nature" or "being free" or "getting down to the basics."

The most rewarding way of life, we're told, is not lived at an editor's desk or in a schoolroom or in a law library. Executives should turn in their washrooms and carpets, forget factory and furnace, and head for the secluded life.

After slashing the kids in the car, one gives up a comfortable house or apartment and goes looking for an unheated, 100-year-old grist mill in a Connecticut hamlet or in the wilds of New Hampshire on a few spots in the hills outside San Francisco.

There one either makes macramé belts, puts up wild grape jelly or spends time shoring up on abandoned barn for a boutique.

Frankly, I have had little experience in shoring up abandoned barns, have never made a macramé belt, would never think of weaving a basket. I have made jelly.

I mention my jelly only to allay any suspicions that I

FOUR HOSPITALIZED LATE SATURDAY AFTER ACCIDENT

A two-car accident on East Morton Road in front of the V.F.W. Post resulted in four area young people being hospitalized at Passavant late Saturday night. A hospital spokesman said none of the four received any serious injuries, and their conditions are "satisfactory."

They're identified as 22-year-old Michael L. Havens of route 1, Chapin; 22-year-old Isaac W. Cannon of 132 East Wolcott; 15-year-old Ola Johnson of 880 South Kosciusko; and 17-year-old Percy Jackson of 941 Allen avenue. State police said the car, driven by Havens, was headed east on Morton in the outside lane of traffic, when it spun out of control on the wet pavement and spun into the path of another eastbound car traveling in the other lane.

The second car, driven by 18-year-old Louis Simko of route 5, Springfield, also spun around and hit a portion of the car driven by Havens. The Havens vehicle then slid off the pavement and struck a culvert. All four young people were taken to Passavant hospital in two Low ambulance.

The occupants of the second car involved escaped injury. State police estimated the Havens auto, which was owned by one of the other passengers, traveled 151 feet before striking the culvert.

Havens was ticketed for driving too fast for conditions.

Women resent doing business with other women."

Uncertain In Senate

By H. JOSEF HEBERT
Associated Press Writer
SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — Legislation to give farmers relief from the personal property tax is expected to clear the House this week, but will run into stiff opposition in the Senate where legislators are working on plans of their own.

Rep. James Nowlan, R-Tou-lon, says he fully expects his two companion measures—calling for elimination of the personal property tax on farm property and a measure reimbursing lost revenue to local taxing districts—to be passed within a few days.

The House approved unanimously last week a bill which gives individuals and corporations a $7,500 exemption on assessed personal property. That measure also is expected to be opposed by some senators.

In other action, women's rights forces will seek to bring a proposed equal-rights amendment to the U.S. Constitution up for a vote this week, although both the Republican and Democratic parties are sharply split on the issue.

An alliance of conservative Republicans and AFL-CIO Democrats, normally at odds with each other, have voiced strong opposition to the measure, being pushed by a handful of women legislators.

The vote in both chambers is expected to be close, although supporters gained a round Thursday when Atty. Gen. William J. Scott issued a formal opinion giving the lawmakers a green light to act.

Opponents had contended that a technical provision of the 1970 state constitution barred any vote on the issue until January, 1973.

"We can't afford to wait any longer," Sen. Ester Saperstein, D-Chicago, declared after Scott's opinion.

House sponsors—Reps. Eugenia Chapman, D-Arlington Heights, and Giddy Dyer, R-Hinsdale—said they hope the bill will come up for a vote on Tuesday.

The House is scheduled to return to duty one hour earlier than expected Monday to probe charges by an education lobbyist that payoffs were being offered to legislators.

The House got into a 30-minute debate on Friday over charges by a lobbyist for the Illinois Federation of Teachers that its rival, the Illinois Education Association, had made "offers of money, staff assistance and other support in return for votes."

Charges of impropriety were vehemently denied over the weekend by the IEA and the House has invited the IFT lobbyist, Oscar Weil, to present any documentation to the charges.

The General Assembly has been methodically working through its money bills to finance state programs in the fiscal year beginning in July. The House was to clear away minor nonappropriation bills Monday afternoon opening the calendar for money measures, bills implementing the constitution and legislation being pushed by the governor.

A big chunk of legislative work has been cut out for the House Appropriation Committee on Tuesday and Wednesday when it hears testimony on more than $900 million in appropriations for state colleges and universities.

Although lawmakers, educators and other public officials grudgingly reached agreement months ago on the broad outlines of the higher education budget, House sources said a number of minor points still need to be thrashed out.

Nevertheless, Rep. David Regner, R-Mount Prospect, said he expects the higher education money bills to reach the floor this week, although a vote may not come until later.

Concerning the House's personal property tax bills, Nowlan, who did not ask for a vote on his two measures last week because he didn't think they would pass, said he looks for their passage in a party-line vote this week.

But in the Senate, he forecast there will be some trouble "...based on the history of other property tax bills over there."

Some of the Senate bills are in the revenue committee while others are awaiting debate in a special subcommittee which has yet to schedule a hearing. Some observers predict that the House and Senate bills eventually will go to a joint conference committee which will thrash out a compromise measure.

Also in the Senate, a hearing again is scheduled in Chicago Monday on Rep. Robert Mann's House-passed Lake Michigan Bill of Rights. The bill, which would give the governor and the legislature veto power over development along Chicago's lakefront, has been held for months in the Senate Agriculture and Conservation Committee.

The same committee last week killed the long-pending Scenic Rivers Bill, which like the bill of rights was highly touted by antipollution forces. Meanwhile, new life has been given to the campaign spending issue by the Senate.

A long-pending bill sponsored by Sen. William C. Harris, R-Pontiac, was killed 10 days ago, but was revived last week.

Other campaign spending legislation is at passage stage in the House.

Lutheran Head To Speak May 21 At Arenzville

ARENZVILLE — Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church, located in Arenzville, officially opens its six-month Centennial Celebration this Sunday, May 21. The Rev. Dr. Jacob A. O. Preus, president of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, will open the Centennial with a keynote address, One Hundred Years of Blessing, in the worship service which begins at 10:30 a.m.

Rev. Dr. Jacob Preus

Dr. Preus has served as president of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod since July, 1969. He is a native of St. Paul, Minnesota, and has served in various pastoral and teaching positions since his graduation from Luther Seminary, St. Paul, Minnesota, in 1945. He became a professor of New Testament Exegesis at Concordia Seminary, Springfield, Ill., in 1958, where he also became president of the seminary in 1962, serving until 1969.

Dr. Preus has worked as a translator of several important dogmatical works, such as The Two Natures of Christ by Chemnitz, and is currently at work translating Luther's Commentary on Romans for the American translation of Luther's works.

Trinity was founded in 1872 under the leadership of Pastor Knoll of Beardstown and Pastor Warnke of Bethel, who served the small congregation on alternate Sundays until 1873 when the Rev. Toewe from Michigan was installed as the first pastor on April 4. Upon the installation of Pastor Toewe the congregation then opened a school which has continued to the present time.

During its 100 years of existence, Trinity has been served by 10 pastors. They are the Reverends Toewe, J. L. Hirschmann, John Drogemuller, Carl Eberhardt, E. F. Tonn, Raymond H. Witt, Winfred Neudorff, Henry Allwardt, Roland Welch and the present pastor, the Rev. Louis C. Knief. The congregation has provided three men for the office of the pastoral ministry. They are Rev. Fred Weisner (now deceased), Rev. Paul Leischner (who will address the congregation on July 9) and Seminarian Michael Winkelman (who will address the congregation June 25).

Following the worship service this Sunday, May 21, a basket dinner will be served in honor of Dr. Preus.

Friends of Trinity are cordially invited to the opening service of the Centennial by their pastor, Rev. Knief.

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — Having lived with turbulence for many years, the stock market has learned to discount crises, threats, forecasts and sometimes, it is claimed, common sense and logic.

At the moment, events that in the 1950s would have led to a market crisis are being filed in the "neutral" folder. Most of the better known analysts remain optimistic, even though they have to dig to find the supports.

Here is some of that supporting evidence:
Spear & Staff, Inc. finds hope in the price-earnings ratios of the blue chip companies, mainly as represented in the Dow Jones industrial average.

In the past decade or more, S&S observes, the P-E ratio, or the number of times per share earnings at which an investor is willing to buy, has ranged from a high of 18 to a low of about 12.5.

The P-E ratio recently, based on current prices, was only 15.9, "the lowest earnings multiple in over 15 months." But the stock market lives in the future. The outlook, based on estimates of future earnings, is much more attractive.

It foresees corporate earnings gains of 14.7 per cent over 1971, which would mean that the P-E ratio would be only 12.5 or 13 by the end of the year if market prices remain right where they are now.

Such an extreme low is unlikely, in S&S's estimate. More likely, it feels, is that the P-E ratio will adjust itself to the higher expectations. And such an adjustment would automatically mean higher stock prices. Hornblower & Weeks-Hemp-hill, Noyes, a brokerage house, believes the outlook for the market is "constructive" because of a strong underpinning of reasons, among them:

—Gross National Product is rising, even if inflation is wrung out of the figures.

—The government's composite index of leading economic indicators is in an upswing.

—The flow of earnings reports are decidedly favorable and are likely to continue so.

—Rapid expansion of the money supply since January indicates growth may accelerate through 1972 and well into 1973.

—Indications that the rise in the consumer price index may be decelerating.

Like many individuals, the market has learned not to expect ideal conditions but to cull the good news as if it were gold, to be satisfied with a few rays of sunshine rather than a clear blue sky.

There may be hysteria to segments of American life about a nuclear confrontation. Wall Street has learned to discount such fears.

A SNAIL MENACE
WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) — The march of the Giant African Snail is among 100 exhibits on display at the new Delaware Museum of Natural History at nearby Greenville.

Museum scientists say that a youngster first brought three of the snails to North Miami from Hawaii in 1966. In two years, tens of thousands of them were ruining gardens, clogging air conditioners and marring the walls of houses.

Although the Department of Agriculture succeeded in ridding the area of the snails at a cost of $100,000, officials still maintain surveillance to make sure the voracious creatures don't return. Travelers must have a permit to bring live snails into the United States or face a fine of $500 or six months imprisonment.

Banks Do Bit For Art

By CARLTON SMITH

Do you have a thin budget and a worthy project that your group is trying to promote in an area broadly construed as "the arts"?

Untapped and probably unsuspected sources exist in most communities through a nationwide "Banker to the Arts" program that's getting banks, large and small, involved in sponsorship of local projects ranging from symphony concerts on Indian reservations to scholarships for kite-flyers.

Are you looking for ways to promote a civic project, such as a campaign to preserve historical landmarks? Talk to the officers of a local bank about an architectural exhibit tied in to the campaign.

Camera club or a school wanting maximum exposure for a photographic competition? Talk to a local bank about a lobby exhibit.

Neighborhood association scheming to turn an ugly building facade into a work of art? "Wall paintings," commissioned by a number of banks across the country, have become community cultural assets. One by Alan D'Arcangelo, in New York City, is an art work of museum quality.

Most of the projects that get support from the "Banker to the Arts" program are in the visual arts area. A Council Bluffs, Iowa, bank first lent space in its garage for a school art fair for kindergartners to 12th graders. From a beginning handful of exhibitors, it's grown to be a big annual event involving 39 public and parochial schools and some 3,000 contestants.

An Atlanta bank provided funds and manpower for a "Georgia Art Bus" that takes the work of contemporary artists into culturally impoverished rural areas. The "Downtown Toledo Art Show," exhibiting the work of area artists and high school students, is held in a bank lobby—and the same bank lent a hand to the local Confederation of Black Artists in organizing the community's first black art show.

But the program is by no means restricted to the visual arts or Art with a capital A. A Phoenix bank includes, in its broad program of arts support, live symphonic music on a Navajo reservation and other communities where live symphonies have never been seen or heard. An Emporia, Kan., bank sponsored the Citizens Chamber Orchestra. A Boston bank, besides maintaining a full-fledged art gallery, sponsors a work shop for original kite design and a scholarship for the flyer of the highest kite in the annual kite festival.

"Support for the arts" includes, also, helping local cultural organizations to establish their necessary accounting procedures and record-keeping and the assistance of bank legal staffs in establishing nonprofit status and giving tax advice.

Some 14,000 banks across the country received earlier this year "how to" kits, telling how to get involved in community projects such as the above. Behind the program are the two largest banking trade associations, the Federation of Full Service Banks and the American Bankers Association.

If you go looking for a helping hand and your own local bank officers haven't received their "how to" kit yet, tell them to write Banking Services America, P.O. Box 7776, Philadelphia, Pa. 19101.

It was one of the Civil War's most moving episodes: 500 cadets of the Virginia Military Institute—the school's entire student body—left down their books and marched out to fight on these green fields. In the 100-acre park stands the Hall of Valor. This is more than just a memorial; it's a museum whose exhibits include motion pictures, models and authentic relics, constituting a complete chronological survey of the Civil War. The site is listed in the National Register of Historic Places and is operated by the Virginia Military Institute of today as a complete educational facility open to the public.

From Gum Wrappers, Tissue

By KATHLEEN NEUMEYER
BEVERLY HILLS, Calif. (UPI)—Now, through the wonders of science, you can furnish practically your entire apartment with old gum wrappers and crumpled tissues.

Not in that precise form, of course. For the past nine months a fledgling firm based here, Environmental Concepts Products Co. Inc., has been manufacturing and marketing lightweight, inexpensive furniture made of recycled paper.

"It saves cutting down of trees and saves wood for essential uses such as building housing," firm president Jack Klotz explained.

"Trees also give out oxygen, and that's the most important thing our grandchildren are going to need."

Klotz' firm buys recycled waste "from garbage heaps all over the world" which has been washed in giant vats and turned into sort of a mash.

Seventy-five pounds of trash can be turned into one 11-pound coffee table, he says.

Federal Impetus
The whole project grew out of the Housing and Urban Development Department's Operation Breakthrough, which aimed to develop systems of low cost housing.

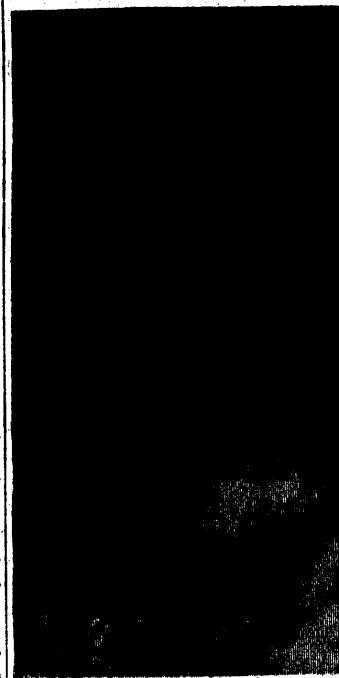

Klotz and his designer wife, Louise, were involved in the effort to develop inexpensive furnishings "based on the premise that all people are entitled to live well."

"With our changing lifestyles, people increasingly are moving from state to state," Klotz said. "They don't want to belong to their furniture."

"Set-Ups," as the 11-piece line is called, can be disassembled and packed in narrow cardboard carrying cases for easy moving. Klotz has traveled cross-country on airplanes.

Cadillac '72

It's a great time to buy the great car.

If you've ever considered owning a Cadillac, or even if you haven't, there are some especially good reasons for considering it right now.

For one, consider what Cadillac can mean to your vacation plans. It affords a degree of comfort, spaciousness and elegance that can help turn long, tedious trips into truly pleasurable ones.

Consider, too, the variety of Cadillac models currently offered. From the beautiful Coupe DeVille shown above to the elegant Eldorado Coupe and Convertible, there are nine great cars. And right now, your authorized Cadillac dealer can probably supply just the model you want just the way you want it.

Perhaps the most decisive reason, though, for buying a Cadillac now is the most practical one—the move to Cadillac ownership is especially easy at this time. Because of this, and because Cadillac's resale value is traditionally the highest in the land, buying a Cadillac now is an especially attractive investment.

So visit your authorized dealer soon. It's a great time for it.

THE GREAT CAR PRESENTS THE GREAT RACES: THE PREAKNESS, MAY 20, AND THE BELMONT STAKES, JUNE 10, ON CBS-TV.

would not change the appropriation ordinance in any way.

The budget will be used during the balance of 1972. There was no indication whether such a budget would be prepared for the utility departments.

Votsmier has complained many times that he has been unable to secure "suitable figures" from anyone in the utility departments, including the superintendent and the three committee chairmen. Votsmier has singled out Utilities Supt. Robert Jameson in a majority of his letters in recent months as the person who is the most "uncooperative."

Several changes in zoning were approved on either first or second reading.

First reading was authorized for no-parking on the north side of Michigan avenue from Hardin to the railroad tracks; permission was also granted to install a lighting standard two feet from the curb and 30 feet west of the railroad tracks. Both items were approved at the request of Mobil Chemical Co.

The council also authorized on first reading a change from R-2 to R-5 zoning on a tract of land between Walnut and Oak Street on North Church. The property, about 600 by 200 feet, will be used to construct a nursing home.

Second and final reading was heard on four ordinances: from R-3 to R-4, property located on North Clay between Wolcott and Dunlap St., for construction of a duplex; A-1 to M-1 manufacturing, tract of land on south side of West Morton, across from Morton Buildings, Inc. for use as a body shop and car lot; R-5 to M-1, manufacturing, property on North East between East Douglas and Madison, immediately east of Crawford Lumber Co.; and property behind Hembrough Motors from R-1 to R-4 and one lot R-5, known as Freesen subdivision.

Leaf Burning

Alderman Jimmie Fernandes received council permission to ask City Attorney Bill Colburn to make a formal request to the EPA in Springfield to permit a variance and authorization to burn leaves in Jacksonville during October and November of 1972.

Fernandes said he wasn't sure it would be granted, but it wouldn't hurt to ask. He said if such a variance were not granted, the city would have to enact very strict laws governing leaves. He said all catch-basins and tin whistles in the city would be clogged as well as place a heavy burden on the sewer plant. Fernandes said it wasn't too soon to start thinking about the problem.

The sewage treatment plant is complete and in good working condition according to a letter from Bill Terry, superintendent of the department. Terry said the bar screen is now working and in operation and the plant morale is at an all-time high. He said the contractor was very cooperative.

A letter from Gerald Cassens, general manager of WLDS-WFAI, asked that the city council with the open meetings section of the law by giving them notice of all special and regular meetings in advance.

Bill Chipman, chairman of the plans commission, asked that the council consider revisions on the subdivision ordinance, mobile home section of the ordinance, and a change in the "planned development" law. All aldermen will receive copies of the proposed changes prior to the time they are sought in ordinance form.

The changes were the result of a survey conducted recently by a planning firm and authorized by the council.

Mayor Dan F. Lahey received council confirmation of Jack E. Thomas of 527 Rosedale for appointment to the cemetery board to fill the unexpired term of the late Gail B. Ranson. The term will run until Jan. 8, 1973. Thomas is a retired drug salesman.

The council asked for bids on the Jones Street lift station improvements to be received June 5 at 5 p.m. Anticipated expense will be about $2,000 according to Alderman Larry Evans.

The council authorized the transfer of $8,000 from the general fund to the park department. The money will be used to renovate the old ball park for updating and use this year.

The council authorized acceptance of the low bid from Schmitt Chevrolet for purchase of a 1/2 ton pickup truck to be used by the fire department. Their bid was $2,683.23, the lowest submitted by about $97.

Two Accidents On Old State Road Sunday

Two persons were injured in an auto accident shortly after four o'clock Sunday afternoon on the Old State Road, approximately eight miles east of Jacksonville and about two miles west of Route 123.

Brought to Passavant Hospital by Lowe ambulance was the driver, 23-year-old Larry Trowbridge of 311 East Washington, and his passenger, 21-year-old Ginger Tendick of 822 North Church.

Trowbridge was admitted to the hospital in "satisfactory" condition. Miss Tendick was treated and later released.

An investigating Morgan County Sheriff's deputy said Trowbridge was westbound when he lost control on the slick pavement. His car ran off the south side of the road, continued across a ditch and through a fence, then overturned before coming to rest in a field.

One injury was reported as the result of a three-car accident that occurred minutes later in approximately the same location.

State police said a westbound car, driven by Margaret Servance of 39 Labor Drive, slowed for the previous accident. Another westbound car, driven by Harold Miller of Quincy, slid into the opposite lane to avoid striking the Servance car.

A third auto, driven by 20-year-old John McCrory of Clarksville, Missouri, slid into the back of the Miller car and bounded sideways into the Servance car.

The Miller and Servance cars wound up in ditches on opposite sides of the road.

A passenger in McCrory's car, 23-year-old Robert Norton, also of Clarksville, Missouri, was treated at Passavant hospital for an apparent minor injury and was later released.

McCrory was ticketed for failure to reduce speed.

Bound Over To Grand Jury

A Scott county young woman was bound over to the next session of the grand jury on a charge of theft over $150 and returned to the Sangamon county jail under $2,000 bond by Judge John B. Wright Monday afternoon.

Doris Vannier, 19, of Bluffs has not been asked to enter a plea to the charge but was returned to Morgan county from Mississippi several days ago to face the accusations.

At the preliminary hearing Monday afternoon a Jacksonville detective indicated that Miss Vannier's fingerprint was found on one of the two motorcycles reportedly stolen on the night of January 11.

The council asked for bids on the Jones Street lift station improvements to be received June 5 at 5 p.m. Anticipated expense will be about $2,000 according to Alderman Larry Evans.

Hatred Of Assassin Rears Its Ugly Head

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Illinois officials, both Republican and Democratic, expressed shock and outrage Monday at the shooting of Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace in Laurel, Md.

The Illinois House unanimously passed a resolution Monday night condemning the attack on Wallace, who is seeking the Democratic presidential nomination.

The resolution called the shooting "an immoral attack on the most basic democratic right—that of people to choose freely the men to govern them."

U.S. Rep. Roman C. Pucinski called the shooting "tragically senseless."

"The assault on Gov. Wallace is an outrageous attack on the very institution of freedom itself," the Illinois Democrat said in a statement. "It makes a mockery of free elections and denies all Americans their fundamental right to free speech. Only sick minds could have committed this act."

Republican Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie called the incident "one more tragically misguided effort to substitute violence for rational dialogue in our political life."

"I extend to Gov. Wallace and his family my hopes and prayers for a speedy and complete recovery," Ogilvie said.

Ogilvie's Democratic opponent in the November election called the attack "the kind of lawless act that has no place in American life."

"All citizens must condemn this act," said Daniel Walker in a prepared statement. "I hope the perpetrators are brought to justice. My sympathies go to Gov. Wallace and his family."

Lt. Gov. Paul Simon, who announced the shooting to the convened Illinois Senate, later commented:

"Whether we agree or disagree with what Gov. Wallace says, all of us must respect his right to say it. This is what our nation is based on. This shooting is another sad day in our country's history."

Sens. Robert Coulson, R-Waukegan, and Terrell Clarke, R-Western Springs, assistant minority leaders, said in a joint statement: "These are times of violence and hatred, and we are shocked every time violence replaces reason."

Charles Duane McKinney, Jr., infant son of Janice McKinney, former resident of Jacksonville, and the late Charles Duane McKinney, died at 3:15 a.m. Sunday at St. John's hospital in Springfield.

The infant was born at Memorial hospital in Springfield May 12th. Survivors include his mother, Janice Stocks McKinney; maternal grandparents, Thomas W. Stocks of Bethany and Mrs. Margaret Stocks, Jacksonville; and paternal grandmother, Mrs. Charles McKinney, Jacksonville.

Graveside rites were at 1 p.m. Monday in the White Chapel Memorial Gardens at Canton with Rev. Donald Cameron officiating.

Hubert M. Raper, 57, of 1002 Beasley entered guilty pleas to charges of driving while under the influence of alcohol and illegal transportation of liquor. His case was continued to May 31 at 2 p.m. for a report by the probation officer.

A former Jacksonville man, Arthur Baker, 35, of Champlain entered a plea of guilty to criminal damage to property over $150 and asked for probation on the offense. Baker was charged by city police early Sunday following an incident in which he reportedly broke out eight windows in the trailer home of his ex-wife.

Police had to take Baker to Passavant hospital for treatment of cuts to his hands and arms. Police were called to investigate the incident shortly before 1:30 a.m. Sunday.

Baker's bond has been set at $200, and his case was continued to May 31 at 2 p.m.

State Sen. Charles Chew, a black Democrat from Chicago, said Wallace "has some views that I don't condone... but he has the right to run for any political office he is qualified for. I would fight to the finish to see that he could do this without the danger of these kinds of incidents."

Anna R. Langford, a black Chicago alderman, said: "You live violently, and you die violently. He's a violent man."

State's Atty. Edward V. Hanrahan of Cook County (Chicago) called the assault on the Alabama governor "another national disgrace" that "should alarm every fair-minded person in this country and emphasize the real danger created by our featuring violence in movies and on television, by our excessive sympathy for criminals and our increasing tolerance of crime throughout this country."

Hanrahan added that "unless the public demands that courts enforce the laws they can become increasingly accustomed to this kind of outrage."

Plott said his organization raises funds to support candidates who support education legislation "but that this is a matter of public record and no different than (the action) of dozens of other statewide organizations."

The House, incensed by the newsletter on Friday, appeared to have cooled its heels by Monday afternoon. After Well's brief remarks, only Rep. Robert Juckett, R-Park Ridge, pressed the lobbyist, asking specifically who was supposed to have approached legislators with offers of money.

Based On Loose Talk

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP)—Lobbyist Oscar Well, whose newsletter last week alluded to bribery attempts on legislators, declared Monday he never intended to accuse anyone of a crime nor "impugn the integrity" of the lawmakers.

In an effort to "clarify any misunderstandings," Well said in a brief speech before the House that his remarks in the Illinois Federation of Teachers' newsletter were "based on a lot of loose talk" around the statehouse.

That newsletter sent the lower chamber into a 30-minute uproar on Friday, with some legislators demanding that Well—a lobbyist for the IFT—be brought before the legislative body to amplify his charges.

The matter now has been given to the Legislative Investigative Commission for further study.

Well said in the newsletter that the Illinois Education Association, a longtime rival to the IFT, had "approached many legislators with offers of money, staff assistance and other support in return for votes."

At a news conference Monday morning and again before the House, Well denied that he intended the newsletter to mean that legislators were being bribed by the IEA.

"Never can you find in any of my statements that I thought this money (belonging to the IEA) was actually influencing what was taking place in the legislature," Well told the news conference. "I never used the word bribery. I would not engage in such loose talk."

In a speech that lasted about 90 seconds, Well told the lawmakers that he based his newsletter account on "a lot of loose talk which had been carried on... (but) not by members of the legislature."

Earlier, he told newsmen that he had information "to back up the statements... at the proper time." He added that the IEA had appropriated $300,000 for dispersal among legislators voting favorably on IEA-backed bills. The money, he said would go as campaign contributions, a practice conducted by many interest groups.

In a letter to the legislators, Well said Monday "The language under discussion did not imply that supporting candidates for office is wrong or dishonest, even though I may disagree with some of the methods used."

Dr. Curtis Plott, executive secretary of the IEA, said Well's accusations were "the last gasp of a beaten organization... and an insult to every legislator."

Plott said his organization raises funds to support candidates who support education legislation "but that this is a matter of public record and no different than (the action) of dozens of other statewide organizations."

The House, incensed by the newsletter on Friday, appeared to have cooled its heels by Monday afternoon. After Well's brief remarks, only Rep. Robert Juckett, R-Park Ridge, pressed the lobbyist, asking specifically who was supposed to have approached legislators with offers of money.

Plott said his organization raises funds to support candidates who support education legislation "but that this is a matter of public record and no different than (the action) of dozens of other statewide organizations."

With an attorney at his side, Well said he would not at this time answer any questions and would stand on his statement.

Within minutes, Rep. Roland Tipworth, D-Taylorville, said some questions must still be answered.

"What is meant by 'offering of money'? What is meant by 'threats and attempts to buy votes'?" Tipworth asked in urging the House to investigate the matter further.

After Well walked from the chamber, the House passed unanimously a resolution sending the matter to the Illinois legislative Investigative Commission. The commission is to have a report ready by June 5, the resolution said.

The whole issue was pushed into the spotlight after Well had placed his newsletter—which normally, he says, goes to about 8,000 to 10,000 persons—on the desks of each of the 177 members of the House.

The lower chamber was considering a vote to revive two bills backed by the IEA, but opposed by the IFT. The bills would set up a complex negotiating procedure for public employees, such as teachers, and would bar some public employees from striking.
